HISTORICAL NOTE

The Mount Sinai Hospital was organized and incorporated in 1852 for "benevolent, charitable and scientific purposes." The work of the Hospital was begun in a small private dwelling on 28th Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, which accommodated 28 patients. The Hospital now has accommodations for 795 patients, not including 18 beds in the receiving ward.

In 1871 the Hospital completed and occupied, at Lexington Avenue, 66th and 67th Streets, a building having a capacity of 200 beds.

The Dispensary, now known as the Out-Patient Department, was inaugurated in 1872.

The clinical departments first organized were those of medicine and surgery; a gynecologist was appointed in 1877.

Mount Sinai created precedents among the hospitals of New York by setting up a distinct pediatric service in 1878 and an otologic service in 1879; the latter was a first combined with, but in 1910 was separated from, ophthalmology and laryngology.

The Mount Sinai Training School for Nurses, in affiliation with the Hospital, was incorporated in March, 1881; the name of the school was changed in 1923 to The Mount Sinai Hospital School of Nursing.

In 1883 a committee was formed to develop a Medical Library.

In 1886 a district medical service was inaugurated.

Provision for the care of private patients was first made in 1886; an intermediate or "semi-private" ward was opened in 1904.

In 1893 a Pathological Department was established, and consultants in dermatology and neurology were appointed.

The corner stone of the group of ten hospital buildings occupying the block bounded by Fifth and Madison Avenues, 100th and 101st Streets, was laid May 22nd, 1901; the buildings were completed and occupied March 15th, 1904, when 500 beds became available for the care of the sick.

A Department of Dietetics was established in 1905.

A Social Service Department was inaugurated in 1906.

A Tuberculosis Clinic was organized in 1908.

The first of a series of "Fellowship" funds was created in 1908 to assist investigators engaged in scientific medical work.

HISTORICAL NOTE

The Hospital's first X-ray machine was installed in 1900. In 1910 a full-fledged Department of Radiology was formed and in 1924 the department was subdivided into separate branches for (a) radiography and (b) X-ray and radium therapy.

In 1910 the three-story Out-Patient Building, which had been completed in 1904 was altered to a five-story building, and the Nurses' Home was enlarged from a six-story to an eight-story building. At the same time new isolation wards were erected on the roof of the Medical Building.

A Dental Department was established for the benefit of in-patients in 1910; this work was extended to the Out-Patient Department in 1925.

An orthopedic surgeon and a physio-therapist were named in 1911.

Roof wards for outdoor treatment were erected on the Medical and Surgical Pavilions in 1912.

The Hospital in 1912 accepted a fund "for the advancement of preventive medicine." A "health class" for children was promptly established.

In 1913 the erection of seven additional buildings south of 100th Street was begun; four of these buildings were occupied in 1915, and three, namely, the Private Pavilion, the Children's Pavilion and the Auditorium, were completed in the spring of 1922. With these additions, the Hospital was able to care for 654 patients.

The first of a series of lectureship funds was established in 1913. These funds provided honoraria for distinguished visiting lecturers.

Electro-cardiography was instituted in 1915.

In 1917, Mount Sinai Hospital became a constituent member of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies, which was organized in that year.

Until 1917, tonsilleotomies were performed in the Dispensary, often without anesthesia; in the year mentioned, a "tonsil and adenoid" ward, with a fully equipped operating room, was opened.

A Mount Sinai Hospital Unit, organized as a section of the Medical Department of the United States Army, was sent to France in 1918.

Post-Graduate medical instruction was formally organized in 1923, in affiliation with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University.

HISTORICAL NOTE

A permanent fund for the support of medical research was inaugurated in 1925, prior to which research was precariously supported by occasional donations.

The construction of a new school and residence building for the School of Nursing, fronting on 98th Street, between Fifth and Madison Avenues, was begun in 1925 and completed in 1927; the residence accommodates 490 nurses.

The new Semi-Private Pavilion for the care of patients of moderate means was completed and opened to the public in 1931.

Group or cooperative special nursing was introduced for the first time in 1931.

A Consultation Service for ambulant out-patients of moderate means was organized in 1931.

Neuro-surgery was included in General Surgery until 1932, when a separate service was created.

The modernization of the Out-Patient Department Building was completed in 1933.

New facilities for Cystoscopy were built and occupied in 1933.

In 1934, the vacant former laboratory on 101st Street, was renovated and restored to use, providing space for a number of exiled German scientists and others.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The main buildings of the present Hospital were opened in 1904 and after continuous use for thirty years reached a condition which necessitated a thorough overhauling, including many important improvements, to bring them back to that state of perfection which they enjoyed at the time of their inauguration.

Early in the year renovation of the Surgical Pavilion was started and was brought to completion in the month of October. The Surgical Pavilion is once more up to the highest modern standard and the Medical Pavilion is now undergoing the same process and should be reopened in the spring of 1936.

This program naturally necessitated a reduction in the number of admissions but by utilizing one floor of the Semi-Private Pavilion for ward cases we avoided too much of a reduction in the number of ward cases. The reduced number of patients unfortunately did not markedly decrease the cost of running the Hospital because the overhead charges remained the same and the decrease in the number of nurses employed was offset by a higher cost of nursing service. The unemployment among graduated nurses existing during the last few years has been followed by a great reduction in the number of pupil nurses in the training schools and this in turn has made necessary the employment of a larger number of graduated nurses. The oversupply of graduated nurses which during the period of depression received so much attention seems to have disappeared and a scarcity of nurses is at present complained of.

In December, 1934, the eight-hour nursing service was introduced on a basis which left to the patients, the doctors and the nurses the choice of this service or a twelve-hour service. The eight-hour service thus far does not seem to have gained popularity. Only very few doctors and patients are asking for it and there is quite a diversity of opinion on it among the nurses themselves.

Agitation is going on at the present time to make two years college education a prerequisite for women desiring to enter the nursing profession. This seems an absolutely unnecessary demand as nursing the sick certainly does not call for more than a good high school education. College education does come in good stead to those nurses who, instead of taking up bed side nursing, will devote themselves to social work or to teaching. For these purposes and for these purposes only a higher education is desirable, but their number is not large enough to demand so much from all applicants to training schools. Were any such legislation, as here referred to, passed, most schools of nursing would probably be forced to close their doors owing to the impossibility of obtaining sufficient applicants, and a situation would be created compelling a change of the law. It might take many years to repair the damage done by such ill considered regulations.

The number of patients treated in the Hospital in 1935 was 13,858 against 14,762 in 1934. In the Private Pavilion there were 1,780 patients against 1,623 in 1934. In the Out-Patient Department there were 330,755 consultations against 319,003, a new record. On the average there were 155 physicians in daily attendance in the Out-Patient Department.

The number of patients admitted to the Consultation Service has increased from 1,242 in 1934 to 1,747 in 1935. It has now reached a number which comes very near to the maximum which can well be taken care of in this Department, and the continued and increasingly successful working of this Department is proof of the great need which existed for its creation.

Salaries and wages were increased during the year to the extent of $30,000 which followed an increase in these items in 1934 of approximately $25,000.

The Hospital agreed to become a participating member of the Associated Hospital Service of New York under which it is possible, by making a small annual contribution, for individuals to obtain three weeks free hospital service in the Semi-Private Pavilion. This service involves a small loss to the hospitals which, however, is unimportant compared to the benefit the community enjoys from this innovation.

The Post Graduate teaching continues to draw a very good attendance. 156 students attended the regular and extra curricular services and the average attendance at the Clinical Pathological Conferences was 346. The total number of Conferences during 1935 was 352.

1935 marked the close of the second year of the publication of the Journal of Mount Sinai Hospital. A gratifying recognition was given to this publication when it was admitted to the quarterly Cumulative Index Medicus, a privilege which is enjoyed by only four other hospital journals.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Dental work in the wards is being carried on more intensively and with closer cooperation with the Clinical Service than heretofore.

The expenditures for current purposes of the Hospital including the School of Nursing, the Social Service Department and the Ladies' Auxiliary in 1935 amounted to..... $1,867,569.35
 Receipts applicable to current expenditures were..... 1,650,438.67

Leaving a net deficit of.....	$217,130.68
-------------------------------	--------------

Included in the receipts are the following:

From Federation for The Mount Sinai Hospital Group	$515,831.59
From the United Hospital Fund.....	43,776.15
From the City of New York.....	135,017.80

Among the lectures given in the Hospital during 1935 by men prominent in their profession were the following:

Dr. George Hoyt Whipple, Dean and Professor of Pathology, University of Rochester School of Medicine.

The William Henry Welch Lectures:

(a) "Ways and Means of Hemoglobin Construction Within the Body."

(b) "Plasma Protein Regeneration as Influenced by Various Factors."

Dr. G. V. Anrep, Head of the Department of Physiology, Cairo University, Egypt. "The Coronary Blood Flow in Relation to Pulse Pressure."

Dr. Ulrich Friedmann, formerly Professor at the University of Berlin and Director of the Division of Infectious Diseases, Rudolf Virchow Krankenhaus. "Experimental Investigation on the Blood-Brain Barrier."

Dr. Gabriel Steiner, Professor in the Department of Psychiatry and Neurology, University of Heidelberg, Germany.
 "Chronic Infectious Diseases of the Central Nervous System."

Col. L. L. Crimmins, U. S. A. "Snake Venoms and Venom
 Snakes of North America, The Treatment of Snake
 Bites" (Illustrated by moving pictures).

Dr. M. A. Arafa, Medical Tutor, Egyptian University, Kass-
 El-Einy Hospital, Cairo, Egypt. "Studies of the Gastric Mucosa by means of the Flexible Gastroscope."

Professor L. Ruzicke of Zurich, Switzerland. "The Male Sex Hormones."

A Maimonides Octocentennial Celebration held in Auditorium, April 15, 1935:

- (a) Dr. Maurice Spencer Jacobs, "Maimonides' Contribution to Medicine."
- (b) Dr. Marvin C. Lowenthal. "The World of Maimonides."
- (c) Prof. Morris R. Cohen. "Maimonides' Contribution to Philosophy."

The subject of the Eighth Annual Graduate Fortnight of the New York Academy of Medicine was "Diseases of Respiratory Tract." As in previous years valuable contributions to the program were presented by the Staff of The Mount Sinai Hospital.

Dr. Joseph H. Globus and Dr. Sidney Silverstone were awarded the Lucien Howe Medal in Ophthalmology by the University of Buffalo for their work on "Diagnostic value of visual field and other ocular disturbances in supratentorial brain tumors."

There has again been a heavy loss in the personnel of our Board of Trustees and our Medical staff. We record with deepest regret the demise of Henry F. Wolff and Charles Klingenstein, two of our most active Trustees whose services were of the greatest benefit to the institution and the passing of Dr. P. William Nathan and Dr. Herman Mond.

Mr. Wolff who was for ten years chairman of the Law Committee fulfilled the arduous duties connected therewith in the most efficient manner.

Mr. Klingenstein was in almost daily attendance at the Hospital and supervised the Purchasing Department with an unequalled zeal and efficiency. His direction of this branch is only one of the activities in which he will be sadly missed.

Dr. P. William Nathan had rendered most excellent service as Orthopedist to the Hospital from 1911 to 1935.

The demise of Dr. Herman Mond, Associate in Medicine, who served the Hospital from 1923 to 1935 ended altogether too early a very promising career.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

In commemoration of loyal and efficient service to the Hospital for periods from 25 to 30 years, the Misses May M. Slator, Mary R. Erwin and Madeline Tisch were presented with gold medals.

The position of Third Assistant Director was created and Dr. Jandon Schwarz was appointed to fill it.

After 33 years of continuous and most valuable service Mr. James Speyer, wishing to reduce his activities, resigned as Trustee and was elected Honorary Trustee in which capacity we will continue to have his valuable cooperation.

Messrs. Carl J. Austrian, Leo Gottlieb and Edwin C. Vogel were elected Trustees for the term expiring March, 1937

Much to our regret Drs. A. O. Wilensky, Farel Jouard, and Eugene C. Milch resigned their positions on our attending Medical staff. We deeply appreciate the good and conscientious service rendered by them.

New appointments on the Medical staff were as follows:

Dr. Heinrich F. Wolf.....	Consulting Physiotherapist
Dr. William Bierman	Physiotherapist to the Hospital
Dr. Percy Klingenstein	Associate Surgeon
Dr. Coleman B. Rabin	Associate in Medicine
Dr. Marcy L. Sussman	Associate Radiologist
Dr. Ralph H. Brodsky	Associate Dentist
Dr. Ameil Glass	Adjunct Surgeon
Dr. Charles K. Friedberg	Adjunct Physician
Dr. Edward B. Greenspan	Adjunct Physician
Dr. Eugene C. Milch.....	Adjunct Neurologist
Dr. Solon S. Bernstein.....	Physician to the School of Nursing

With deep appreciation we make record of the following dedication of beds and endowment of rooms:

DEDICATION OF BEDS

In memory of William Hyams and Emma Hyams.....	$5,000.00
The Samuel and Isabella Kritzman Beds—Founded by provision in the will of Isabella Kritzman (five beds)	25,000.00
In memory of Clara L. Limburg—Dedicated by her children	2,500.00

ENDOWMENT OF ROOM

The Jacob and Henrietta Sneudaira Room—Founded by provision in the will of Moses J. Sneudaira..... $10,000.00

Under the will of Bertha Weinman the Hospital was made residuary legatee and has received as such $1,501,527.82. Miss Weinman has requested in her will that this legacy should be used to erect and maintain a home for convalescents to be known as "The Moses Weinman Memorial Home" or "The Moses Weinman Memorial Building."

Under the will of Mr. Edward J. King the Hospital was designated residuary legatee and beneficiary of some trust funds created to provide life annuities for different persons. The amount of this legacy cannot yet be determined but should be considerably in excess of $500,000. Mr. King expressed the wish that his bequest should, if possible, be used for the benefit of convalescents.

The two legacies just mentioned are the most important thus far received by the Hospital and they give much satisfaction and great encouragement to the Trustees.

The difficulties confronting the management of the Institution caused by constantly increasing cost and justified demands for new and expensive methods of treatment make the task of balancing the budget an ever more difficult one, and it is only such generosity which will enable institutions like ours to look into the future with confidence.

We also record with grateful appreciation the following bequests and donations:

BEQUESTS

Estate of Harry H. Meyer.....	$177,787.93
Estate of Julie Heidebach	20,927.90
Estate of Rudolph J. Schaefer.....	61,351.53
Estate of Joseph Runnheim—On account	16,000.00
Estate of Lawrence Pike—On account.....	3,687.61

DONATIONS FOR SPECIAL PURPOSES DURING YEAR 1935

David A. Schulte—For Dental Department Out-Patient Service	$8,000.00
Mrs. Carrie M. Blumenthal—For the Carrie M. and Gustav Blumenthal Endowment Fund.....	5,000.00

Dr. A. A. Berg—For Gastro-Enterology Research.....	1,000.00
Lucius N. Littauer—For study of inflammatory and degenerative diseases of the heart and blood vessels	1,000.00
Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Naumburg—For Rheumatic Fever Research	1,000.00
Phenolphthalein Research, Inc.—For special Pharmacological Studies on the action of Phenolphthalein	885.00
Mr. A. S. Askin—For the construction of cubicles in the Pediatric Wards	850.00
Mrs. Charles Klingenstein—For Research in Otology	600.00
"Anonymous"—For Cardio-Vascular Research.....	500.00
Nelson I. Asiel—For Cancer Research.....	500.00

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The serious financial situation of most of the private hospitals of our city has been since some time and is at this moment a matter of deep concern to all those interested in hospital work. The managers of the United Hospital Fund have given this subject very careful consideration and after a thorough study have decided that they should endeavor to be more helpful than ever before in bringing about the imperative amelioration of the prevailing condition.

Under the leadership of its recently elected new President, Mr. H. McAlpin Pyle, and with the aid of Mr. Gates W. McGarrah, as Chairman of the Committee, an intensive campaign was waged during the last months of 1935 and an amount of almost two million dollars was raised for distribution among the hospitals and their social service departments. Only those who have taken part in drives can fully gauge the effort which was required to achieve such a brilliant result and in extending our congratulations to the United Hospital Fund, we express the hope and belief that in coming years they will reap the full benefit of the work done and that they will obtain from the community that generous response which they so amply deserve.

Our sincere thanks are tendered to:

Messrs. Samuel Leidesdorf, Lawrence Marx, David A. Schulte, Waldemar Kops, Dr. Solomon Lowenstein, and all those who assisted them in their efforts which brought the Federation drive to a successful conclusion.

The City Departments for their valuable aid and cooperation. Mrs. Alfred A. Cook and her associates in the Social Service Department.

Mr. Hugo Blumenthal, President, and the Board of Directors of the School of Nursing.

Mrs. Leopold Bernheimer, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and her associates.

Mr. Alfred Lowenthal as volunteer photographer.

Mrs. Kurt Simon for her kindness in boarding the horses needed by Dr. Schwartzman in the furtherance of his experiments.

The volunteers in the various departments who rendered such loyal and satisfactory service.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

It is difficult to give adequate recognition to the services rendered the Institution by its Medical and Administrative Staff headed by Dr. Friesner as President of the Medical Board and by the Director, Dr. Turner. All those connected with the running of the Institution in whatever direction their work may lie, whether their place be the highest or the lowest, have given their best for the good cause and it is they to whom credit is due for our accomplishment. We are happy to have the opportunity to make this acknowledgment of service faithfully and successfully rendered.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE BLUMENTHAL,

President.

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF MR. CHARLES KLINGENSTEIN

The Board of Trustees of The Mount Sinai Hospital have learned of the death of their colleague, Charles Klingenstein, with a sense of a really great loss not only to the Hospital but to the community at large.

For fifteen years he has given not only generously of his means but unstintingly of his time. He was wholly unselfish in his duties on the many committees on which he served, putting the interests of the Hospital at all times ahead of his own.

His wise counsel and his sincere interest in the welfare of the inmates of the Hospital will be sorely missed, and the Board will personally feel deeply the loss of his genial and sympathetic personality.

To his bereaved family we extend our most heartfelt sympathy.

In recognition of his outstanding services we direct that the flag of the Hospital be flown at half-mast, and that an engraved copy hereof be sent to his family.

GEORGE BLUMENTHAL,
President.

ARTHUR H. HARLOW,
Secretary.

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF MR. HENRY F. WOLFF

It is with the profoundest regret and deepest sorrow that the Board of Trustees of The Mount Sinai Hospital have learned of the death of their colleague, Henry F. Wolff.

For the past ten years, as Chairman of the Committee on Rules and Legal Matters, he had given unstintingly of his time and energy and his wise counsel has been of incalculable value to our institution. But, in addition to his service, his genial presence and charming personality endeared him not only to the Board of Trustees but to every one at the Hospital with whom he came in contact.

At a special meeting of the Board of Trustees of The Mount Sinai Hospital, held July 29th, it was resolved to fly the flag of the Hospital at half-mast and to send an engrossed copy of these resolutions to his bereaved family.

DEWITT MILLHAUSER,
Acting President.

ARTHUR H. HARLOW,
Secretary.

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF DR. PHILIP WILLIAM NATHAN

The Board of Trustees of The Mount Sinai Hospital has learned with deep regret of the passing away of Dr. Philip William Nathan.

For twenty-four years, Dr. Nathan faithfully served the patients of the Hospital in various capacities as a member of the Medical staff, and at the time of his death was Consulting Orthopedist.

His great professional skill and his tireless devotion to the needs of his patients combined to make his services to the hospital and the community of inestimable value. His frank, outspoken and sincere approach to medical matters and his intense human interest in all affairs made him respected and beloved by all who knew him.

To the members of his family the Board of Trustees extends this expression of deep sympathy in their great loss.

GEORGE BLUMENTHAL,
President.

ARTHUR H. HARLOW,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

The President of the Medical Board takes pleasure in presenting the following report of the activities of the Medical Staff of the Hospital:

THE LABORATORIES: The total number of routine laboratory examinations during the year 1935 was approximately the same as in the previous year. On the other hand, there was an increase in the percentage of autopsy permissions in service cases from 66.6% to 75%. The administration is to be congratulated on its increased efforts in this direction.

With respect to the number of scientific reports published, the year 1935 was the most prolific in the history of the Laboratories. Seventy-nine reports were published in various journals, and thirty-five manuscripts are at present in the hands of publishers. The published works, it is believed, are of a consistently high standard and represent more variegated fields than heretofore.

It is a great pleasure to announce the award of the Lucien Howe Gold Medal given by the University of Buffalo to Dr. Globus and Dr. Silverstone for the best work on some of the neurological manifestations related to ophthalmology.

Among the many interesting reports which were published during the year was one on a new method of demonstrating blood vessels in the human subject during life. Detailed studies on specific carbohydrates obtained from the modified tubercle bacillus used by Calmette and Guérin for the treatment of tuberculosis were carried on by one of the expatriated German physicians. Further interesting studies have been continued in connection with experimental work on thrombo-angiitis obliterans. The 1935 publications were concerned with the discovery of another link in the chain of evidence which demonstrates that endocrine glands control blood volume. A number of reports were issued by the Director of the Laboratories and his collaborators on rheumatic fever and on conditions related to angina pectoris. These reports have now covered practically every aspect of the pathology of rheumatic fever and will soon be put into monograph form. Interesting and encouraging experimental work on angina pectoris has been carried on in dogs. It is hoped that this work may ultimately lead to the permanent alleviation or cure of this disease in humans. Studies were made by a member of the Dermatological Staff, lending additional support to his observations on the therapeutic value of snake venom in hemorrhagic diseases. A number of studies were carried on by two members of the Staff on the pathology of the Shwartzman phenomena. Several important contributions have been made by the Department of Endocrinology and by the liver study group headed by one of the surgeons.

An interesting rotating exhibit was set up temporarily in the Laboratory Annex Building. This rotating exhibit should be found valuable for teaching purposes as well as for ready demonstrations to visitors.

The teaching program of the Laboratories, consisting of seminars, instruction to assistants, clinical pathological conferences, meetings of various hospital divisions, lectures and courses, has been carried out at about the same level as within the last few years.

A major need is a Department of Physiology in order that Mount Sinai Hospital may maintain its high position in the medical world and that its younger men may receive the type of modern training which will permit them to become of more service in their profession.

The following articles were published from the Laboratories:

1. A Diffuse Disease of the Peripheral Circulation usually associated with Lupus Erythematosus and Endocarditis.
2. Angiography by Use of Viscous Radiopaque Solutions.
3. The Chemistry of the Acyclic Constituents of Natural Fats and Oils.
4. A Specific Polysaccharide from the Bacillus Calmette-Guerin. (BCG).
5. The Relation of Cholecystitis to Pathological Changes in the Liver.
6. The Histogenesis of Lymphosarcomatosis.
7. Observations on Excretion of Vitamin C in some Vascular Diseases.
8. The Endocrine Aspects of Gynecology.
9. Sex Endocrine Factors in Blood and Urine in Health and Disease.
10. Gonadotropic Blood and Urine Cycles in Normal Menstruating Women.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

11. Improvement in Female Sex Hormone Blood Test in Cyclical Menstruating Women and in Pregnancy Blood.
12. Significance of Estrogenic Factor in Tumors and Tissues of the Human Female.
13. Determination of Luteinizing and Follicle-Stimulating Principles in Castrate and Menopause Urine.
14. Effect of Administration of Estrogenic Factor upon Hypophyseal Hyperactivity in the Menopause.
15. Bacterial Endocarditis due to a Gram-Negative Cocco-Bacillus of Undetermined Identity.
16. Studies in Thrombo-Angiitis Obliterans (Buerger); X. Reduction in Blood Volume following Bilateral Oophorectomy.
17. The Relation of Blood Volume to certain Glands of Internal Secretion. Effect of Thyroid and Gonad Ablation.
18. Suppuration of the Petrous Pyramid.
19. The Histogenesis and Biological Action of some Ovarian Tumors.
20. An Unusual Tumor containing Estrogenic Hormone.
21. Fibro-Xanthoma of the Presacral Connective Tissue.
22. Theca Cell Tumors.
23. Pathologic Aspects of the Local and General Schwartzman Phenomenon.
24. Ectopic Chorioepithelioma.
25. Vegetative Disturbances of Cerebral Origin.
26. Tuberous Sclerosis in the Infant.
27. Diagnostic Value of Defects in the Visual Fields and other Ocular Disturbances Associated with Supratentorial Tumors of the Brain.
28. Developmental Defects of the Nervous System.
29. Moulages—Their Preparation and Service to the Neuro-pathologist.
30. Prophylactic Vaccination against Intracranial Complications following Pneumococcus Type III Mastoiditis.
31. Streptococcus Hemolyticus Bacteremia with special reference to Otolaryngologic Conditions.
32. Cavernous Sinus Thrombosis following Intranasal Infection.

33. Histologic Observations on the Fundus in Leukemia.
34. Lesions of the Coronary Arteries and their Branches in Rheumatic Fever.
35. Effect of Coronary Artery Occlusion on Dog's Heart with total Coronary Sinus Ligation.
36. Lesions in the Roots of the Pulmonary Artery and Aorta in Rheumatic Fever.
37. Lesions of the Left Auricle in Rheumatic Fever.
38. Studies of Specificity in Multiple Hypersensitiveness by Quantitative Titration and Absorption of Reagents.
39. Circulation Time in Failure of the Left Side of the Heart.
40. The Use of Ether in Measuring the Circulation Time from the Antecubital Veins to the Pulmonary Capillaries.
41. Spontaneous Hepatico-Duodenostomy.
42. Gastric Secretion. V. Achlorhydria following partial Gastrectomy for Ulcer; Studies with Histamine and the transplanted Gastric Pouch.
43. Gastric Secretion. VI. The Action of Pilocarpine on the Secretions of a transplanted Gastric Pouch without Auerbach's Plexus.
44. Unrecognized Broncho-Pleural Fistula of Eighteen Years Duration.
45. Stricture of the Colon.
46. Shwartzman Phenomenon in Vaccine Virus Lesions.
47. True Papilloma of the Nasal Cavity.
48. Local Tumor-like Deposits of Amyloid in the Larynx.
49. Actinomycosis of the Sphenoid with Actinomycotic Meningitis and Brain Abscess.
50. Influence of Bile Salts on the Nervous System following Intraspinal Usage.
51. "Mottling of Enamel" effected by a Single Fluorine Dose.
52. Fibroma of the Pleura.
53. A Simple Apparatus for Fixation of Lungs in the Inflated State.
54. Mechanical Production of Cavities in Isolated Lungs.
55. Influence of Drugs on Chicken Embryo and on its Reaction to Sera containing Forssman Antibodies.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

56. Staphylococcic Empyema and Pynopneumothorax. Pathogenesis, Pathology, Symptoms and Treatment.
57. Coagulating Power of Bothrops Atrox Venom on Hemophilic Blood.
58. Effect of Mocassin Snake Venom (Ancistrodon Piscivorus) in Hemorrhagic Conditions.
59. Ionized Blood Calcium in Patients with Renal Calculi.
60. Pathology of Bronchial Adenoma.
61. The Determination of the Sedimentation Rate of Red Blood Cells.
62. Leukemia. Its Diagnosis and Treatment.
63. An Improved Method for Determination of the Gonadotropic Hormone.
64. The Phenomenon of Local Skin Reactivity to Bacterial Filtrates: Elicitation of Local Reactivity by Way of the Vascular System.
65. Phenomenon of Local Skin Reactivity to Bacterial Filtrates in Relation to Rous Chicken Sarcoma Antibodies.
66. Hemorrhagic Necrosis and Regression of Sarcoma 180.
67. Effect of Spontaneous and Induced Infections upon Development of Mouse Sarcoma 180.
68. Grading of Local Skin Reactivity to Bacterial Filtrate.
69. Phenomenon of Local Skin Reactivity to Bacillus Tuberculosis. I. Skin-Preparatory and Reacting Potencies of Tuberculin, O.T., and Bacillus Tuberculosis Culture Filtrates.
70. Chemistry of Sterols and Bile Acids.
71. Gumma of the Heart. Report of Two Cases.
72. Two Rare Instances of Cardiovalvular Disease presumptively Syphilitic in Origin.
73. Blood Amylase Response to Acetyl-Beta-Methylcholine Chloride in Pancreatectomized Dogs.
74. Studies on the Relation of Non-Specific Ulcerative Colitis to Bacillary Dysentery (with particular reference to the Dysentery Bacteriophage).
75. Distribution of Blood Group Properties and Blood Group Property Destroying Factors in the Intestinal Tract of Man.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

76. The Relation between the Type Specific Carbohydrates of Pneumococci and the Blood Group Specific Substance A.
77. Primary Serum Toxicity as demonstrated by the Chicken Embryo.
78. Demonstration of Hemorrhagins in Snake Venom by Means of the Chicken Embryo.

MEDICAL SERVICES: During the past year and especially during the past three or four months, the medical activities have been somewhat curtailed because of the reduction in the number of beds caused by the renovation of the Medical Pavilion. In spite of this difficulty new work has been carried out in many directions.

A further report was published concerning clinical and pathological studies on a systemic vascular disease of great clinical interest which is characterized by involvement of synovial and serous membranes, the endocardium and the finer vascular system of various internal viscera, especially the kidneys. The disease is usually, but not always, associated with the skin lesions of acute lupus erythematosus.

Work has been published and is still in progress upon diseases of the liver and upon disturbances in hepatic function. Other publications have been made as a result of studies upon circulatory dynamics. The group which is working upon diseases of metabolism have concentrated their attention upon the relationship of hepatic disturbance to alterations in the utilization of carbohydrates. Important publications have also been made by the group working upon thoracic diseases.

In the Out-Patient Department, the activities of the nutrition clinic have been expanded so that it now serves in a consulting capacity to all other clinics in the Out-Patient Department. It has an important additional function, in teaching the clinic patients not only proper food habits and the dietetic treatment of disease but also instructing them concerning the planning of menus and the purchasing of food on the limited budgetary allowance of families on public relief. Greater attention has been devoted to vitamin deficiencies. Various medical clinics such as the metabolism, the gastro-intestinal, the allergy and the cardiovascular have carried on valuable investigative work which has been published. The medical clinics of the Out-Patient Department are now intimately related to the ward activities of the medical service.

On the medical services, the following studies have either been published or are in the process of publication:

1. Suprarenal Virilism and Cushing's Pituitary Basophilism.
2. Painless jaundice.
3. Trauma and Septicemia.
4. The Psychogenic Origin of Organic Disease.
5. Allergy to Life.
6. Primary Amyloidosis.
7. Cerebro-spinal Hypertension.
8. The Mechanism of the Couvoisier Syndrome.
9. Gastric Erosions.
10. Dynamics of the Cerebro-spinal Circuit.
11. Psychogenic Factors in Peptic Ulcer.
12. Neurocirculatory Asthenia and Graves's Disease; their Relationship.
13. Glucose Tolerance Studies in Sprue.
14. Diabetes Insipidus and Hysterical Polyuria; their Differentiation.
15. The Clinico-pathological Classification of Carcinomas of the Lung.
16. The Symptomatology of Putrid Abscess of the Lung.
17. Application of Present-day Knowledge of Muscle Physiology in the Study of Cardiac Arrhythmia and Failure.
18. Glycogen Disease (von Gierke) : Results of Therapy.
19. Parathyroid Adenoma in von Recklinghausen's Disease: Bio-assay of Adenoma.
20. The Production of the Schwartzman Phenomenon in the Lungs of Rabbits.
21. Dissecting Necrotic Pneumonia complicating Pancreatic Lithiasis with Diabetes Mellitus.
22. Tuberous Sclerosis of the Brain and Adenoma Sebaceum associated with Renal Tumor.
23. Acute Appendicitis with Bradycardia and Hypothermia.
24. Clinical Aspects of Periarteritis Nodosa.

FROM THE ALLERGY CLINIC

25. Studies on Vernal Catarrh.
26. Serological Evidence of Immunity with co-existing Sensitization in a Type of Human Allergy (Hay Fever).
27. The Pharmacology of the non-toxic imidazoles such as histidine, imidazole, etc., locally and generally in the normal and allergic states.
28. The Physiology of the Wheal by studying Dye Absorption from Histamine and Allergic Wheals and the Influence of constitutional changes in Antigens and Allergens on Wheal Formation.
29. Purification of Allergenic Solutions.
30. Gastro-intestinal Allergy.
31. Study of Antigenic Relationship between Ragweed, Tobacco and Pyrethrum.
32. Sensitiveness to Tobacco and its Effects.
33. Studies of Specificity in Multiple Hypersensitiveness by Quantitative Titration and Absorption of Reagents.

FROM THE GASTRO-INTESTINAL CLINIC

34. Peptic Oesophagitis
35. Treatment of Cardiospasm with the mercury-weighted tube.
36. The Milk-drip cure of ulcer (new treatment) taught in the clinic and carried out in the homes of patients.
37. New treatment of the post-cholecystectomy Syndrome.
38. The subject of Gastritis in relation to Achlorhydria, Peptic Ulcer and Carcinoma.
39. Studies in the treatment of ulcerative colitis with B. Coli vaccine and toxin and B. Coli serum.
40. The diagnosis and treatment of Lymphogranuloma Inguinale.
41. The study of the diagnosis, incidence and significance of Achlorhydria.
42. Studies in Gastric Secretion during the night.
43. Observations on abdominal wall ulcerations adjacent to experimental gastric pouches in the dog.

FROM THE CARDIAC CLINIC

44. Age at onset and the recurrences in Juvenile Rheumatism ushered in by Major Manifestations.
45. The relationship between the Common Cold and the onset in Juvenile Rheumatism.
46. The Effect of Intravenous Glucose on the pain in the Anginal Syndrome.
47. The Effect of Intravenous Hypertonic Saline on the pain in the Anginal Syndrome.

In the Cardiographic Department, the following studies have been carried on:

1. Low Basal Metabolic Rates obtained by Low Calorie Diets in Coronary Artery Disease.
2. The Hopeful Side of Heart Disease.
3. Arteriovenous Fistula; a case report with a discussion of the related Circulatory Dynamics.
4. The Basal Metabolic Rate in a patient with Coronary Artery Thrombosis when placed on an 800 Calorie Diet.
5. Coronary Artery Thrombosis with Pericardial Effusion.
6. Cardiovascular Studies in patients with single functioning Lung.
7. The Two-step Test of Myocardial Function.
8. Chest Leads in Normal Children.
9. The Differentiation of Pulmonary and Cardiac Disease; the Evaluation of the Role of Each.
10. Coronary Artery Thrombosis with treatment by prolonged rest in bed and low calorie diet; improved prognosis.
11. Acute Coronary Artery Occlusion with Perforation of the Interventricular Septum.
12. Treatment of Coronary Thrombosis and Angina Pectoris.

The Pediatric Service during the past year has continued investigations in many fields related to diseases of children. Research has continued on insensible perspiration and several papers on the subject have been published.

The diabetic children's clinic has increased in size. A Diabetic Primer for children was prepared by members of the Staff and privately printed through the generosity of Mrs. D. Alan Dillenberg and Mr. James Gray. This Primer has been found most useful in the instruction of children afflicted with diabetes.

A number of small cubicles for infants have been installed in Ward Y. These cubicles allow a larger number of infants to be cared for in the ward and at the same time provide a greater degree of isolation than formerly. The cubicles are constructed so as to permit easy handling by the nurses. Their installation and use is being watched with interest as it is hoped that by means of this new arrangement ward cross infections may be reduced in number.

Papers have appeared from this service on the following subjects:

1. Nodal Rhythm in Childhood.
2. Peritoneal Puncture.
3. Diseases of the Lymph Nodes in Childhood.
4. Study of Pulmonary Diseases with special reference to Bronchiectases.
5. Pneumococcus Peritonitis.
6. Ophthalmoscopic Studies in the New Born.
7. A Method of Measuring the Dosage of Placental Extract.

Numerous articles on mental hygiene and on allergy in childhood have been published. Investigation of lipoid disturbances in childhood is in progress, and work on the study of cardiac sound tracings is being continued.

The following articles have been published from the Children's Health Class:

1. The Challenge of Childhood.
2. Emotional Behaviour during early Childhood from the Standpoint of Pediatrics.
3. Child Guidance as a Medical Function.
4. Common Sense in rearing Children.
5. The Relation of the Development and Care of Teeth to Personality.
6. This Right-handed World.

The staff of the Adult Mental Health Class totals at present fourteen psychiatrists. In addition, two physicians cover the wards. The staff also includes two female and one male full time paid social workers, a psychologist on call whenever needed, a trained worker in child therapy, an occupational therapist, and two clerical volunteers.

Articles have been published on the following subjects :

1. The Psychogenic Factors in Asthma.
2. The Genesis of the Feeling of Unreality.
3. Fairy Tales and Neurosis.
4. The Role of Anxiety in Neuroses.
5. Paralysis Agitans.
6. Nick names in Institutional Children.
7. The Etiological Factors in the Production of Neuroses in Children.

The Dermatological Service in the Hospital has continued investigation of the effect of hyperpyrexia on the treatment of chronic recurrent dermatosis. In connection with this, chemical studies have been made of the lipid determination in the blood serum of these patients. As ward activities were reduced on account of building repairs, previously mentioned, most of the investigative work was done in the Out-Patient Department. Members of the staff are also carrying on research on the treatment of fungus disease by means of vaccines made from these organisms. A new skin test is being developed for capillary fragility.

SURGICAL SERVICES: Monthly conferences on thoracic diseases have been started by one surgical service for the staff and the general medical public. Definite views on the diagnosis and the surgical treatment of acute abscess of the lung have been developed. Progress has been made in tissue transplantation for pulmonary cavities. Certain types of pleural infections are being subjected to special study, particularly bilateral empyema, the acute streptococci infections, and the chronic intrapulmonary empyemata. The whole subject of suppurative broncho-pneumonia is being recast in relation to the pleural complications. Anatomical dissections and preparations of the broncho-pulmonary tree are being made. Studies on non-radical methods of treatment of bronchiectasis are being pursued. Parathyroid surgery in relationship to certain vascular affections is also being carried out. A further report on the diagnostic value of abdominal puncture in acute peritoneal lesions was made. The disparity between the clinical manifestations and operative findings in acute cholecystitis was demonstrated. An investigation was made of the causes of death in certain fulminating fatalities after gall bladder operations.

Studies on the following subjects have been conducted:

1. An Experimental Study of Endo-choledochal Section of the Sphincter of Oddi.
2. Differential Quantitative Analysis of Bile Acids in Bile and in Duodenal Drainage.
3. An Analysis of the Causes of Death in Autopsies in Surgical Diseases of the Biliary Tract.
4. Clinical Study of Intraductal Pressures of the Common Bile Duct.
5. The Study of the Indications for Biliary Duodenal Intubation.
6. The Effect of Amniotic Injections on the Incidence of Peritonitis in Colonic Surgery.
7. Methods for Sterilizing Isolated Intestinal Loops.
8. A Clinical Study of Recurrences after Ventral and Umbilical Hernioplasties.

Another Surgical Service has studied the dissolution of urinary calculi, thrombo-phlebitis of the renal vein, tuberculosis of the urinary tract and renal neoplasm.

On the Neurosurgical Service, the operative work continued during the past year at about the same level as heretofore. During the course of the year, a statistical study on the eye changes in posterior fossa tumors was made and is to be published.

On the Gynecological Service, special attention has been paid to the treatment of uterine bleeding. In the puberty group snake venom and thyroid extract have proven effective. In patients who during sexual maturity bleed excessively, the usual gynecological methods, including curettage, X-ray and occasionally snake venom have given good results. The post menopausal bleedings are readily treated but considerable investigation has been made on the basic causation. Tumors of the ovaries have rarely been found the cause of these bleedings. The majority are due to malignancy. A small group appear to be the result of physiological reactivation. These studies have been made in connection with the Endocrine Laboratory. Special attention also continues to be focused on plastic operations. As the cure for prolapse is now uniformly successful, attention is being centered upon incontinence of urine.

A number of clinical papers as well as investigative problems have been published on work carried out in the general Laboratory and in the special Gynecological Laboratory.

The Gynecological Clinics in the Out-Patient Department show an increase in the differentiation between the afternoon diagnostic clinics and the morning special clinics in which groups of specific disorders are studied and treated. The afternoon clinics have been used extensively for the instruction of volunteers, post-graduate students and temporary assistants from other departments. The presence of three nurses and a volunteer expedite the working of the clinic. The usual number of cases are referred to the Hospital.

On the Ophthalmological Service, operations have been performed on many cases of detachment of the retina with satisfactory results. More attention has been paid to plastic repair of the lids. In the Laboratory, the embryological material has been developed and studied for future teaching purposes. Comparative anatomy of the eye is also being studied. Among the papers published by the members of this Service are:

1. Study of Retinal Circulation by direct Microscopy.
2. Use of Coley's mixed Toxins in Ophthalmology.
3. Primary Melano Sarcoma of the Optic Disc.
4. Histologic Observations on the Fundus in Leukemia.
5. Metastasis in the Choroid from Adenocarcinoma of the Testis.
6. Reconstruction of the Orbit following Exenteration.

The Otological Service has been extremely active on its clinical service in the wards. In addition, pathological material accumulated in the Laboratory has been subjected to intensive study with the result that during the year publications based upon these examinations were made by several members of the staff.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

On the Laryngological Service, in addition to the routine work, studies have been continued in the treatment of malignancies of the upper respiratory tract with particular reference to the larynx; these were carried on in conjunction with the Department of Radiotherapy. An extensive report has been made of adenoma of the bronchus; also studies of the bacteriology of the upper respiratory tract with special reference to bacteremia. Several reports have been made of some unusual diseases of the nose and throat and their treatment. A study on the therapeutic effect of moccasin snake venom on recurrent epistaxis was completed in the Out-Patient Department.

On the Orthopedic Service, clinical investigation has been continued in several problems, including the newer methods of treating fractures of the femoral neck by internal fixation, soft tissue tumors of the lower extremities, and fractures about the ankle joint and wrist joint. A number of articles have been published and others are in preparation. More work has been carried on with the cooperation of the Physiotherapy Department on the after-treatment of fractures and joint conditions.

In the Orthopedic Out-Patient Clinics, the following studies are in progress:

1. Bone tumors and soft-tissue tumors of the extremities.
2. Tuberculosis of bones and joints.
3. Club-foot.
4. Congenital dislocation of the hip.
5. The relief of peripheral pain by novocaine and saline injections.

From the Physiotherapy Department, the following papers have been published:

1. Fever Therapy in Pelvic Conditions.
2. The Treatment of Gonorrheal Arthritis by means of Systemic and Additional Focal Heating.
3. A New Vaginal Diathermy Electrode.
4. The Temperature of the Surface of the Skin.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

DEPARTMENT OF RADIOLOGY: Compared with 1935, there has been a further increase of about 10% in the number of patients examined in this Department; this in spite of the curtailed facilities of the ward pavilions. Progress has been made in modernization of some of the old equipment in the Department, particularly in shock-proofing equipment in an effort to eliminate all possible electrical hazards in the Roentgen examination. The change to Roentgen tubes with rotating targets has made possible the use of higher power with even sharper detail.

The post-graduate courses in Roentgen Diagnosis and Therapy given in association with several other large hospitals of this city have been continued and attempts have been made to standardize the curriculum to conform with the requirements of the American Board of Radiology.

Work with the heavily filtered X-ray treatments (Coutard Technique) in oral and laryngeal carcinoma has continued with gratifying results. Studies are being carried out on the effect of radiation therapy on benign inflammatory lesions. In bronchiectasis, a condition hitherto quite refractory to all forms of treatment, X-ray therapy has brought relief in many cases and seems to promise much for the future. Work is being done in connection with the Gynecological Service on the treatment of menopause symptoms by X-ray therapy to the pituitary.

The paper on the Coutard Method in the Treatment of Carcinoma of the Larynx, read by a member of the Staff at the annual meeting of the American Roentgen Ray Society in 1934, was published in 1935. In conjunction with the Laryngologist and Dr. Coutard of the Institute of Radium in Paris a symposium was held at Mount Sinai Hospital in 1935 at which lesions of the upper respiratory tract treated by radiotherapy were shown and discussed.

A breast clinic for the early diagnosis and study of the results of Roentgen treatment has been established in the Out-Patient Department in conjunction with the Surgical Services. Rectal cases were separated from the Gastro-intestinal Clinic and set up as a separate Rectal Clinic.

ISIDORE FRIESNER, M.D.

President of the Medical Board.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT

The form of report for the year 1935 departs from reports of previous years in that it omits fulsome details of the work of the medical staffs of the clinics. On the premise that clinical service to in- and out-patients is essentially service by a single medical staff whose activities can be best portrayed in a single inclusive report, these will be found in the Report of the Medical Board printed elsewhere.

Detailed statistical reports relating to the Out-Patient Department as a whole and to various clinic subdivisions are also to be found elsewhere. It is appropriate, however, to refer particularly to the large number of visits which totaled 330,755 and exceeded the number of visits in 1934 by more than 10,000. This represents a new high record for quantitative service despite the many restrictive rules which the clinics have been forced to adopt from time to time in order to limit admissions within numbers which could be cared for properly with existing facilities and personnel. That the service was excellent is evidenced by the many unsolicited letters of appreciation and by the high rate of return visits. This excellence is due largely to the selfless service of the many physicians who continue to give this voluntary service for the benefit of the sick poor who look to this Hospital for medical aid. To them, the Chairman of the Committee again records his grateful appreciation. He acknowledges with thanks also the valuable work of the nurses, volunteers, clerks, technicians, and many others who assist in this service.

The Out-Patient Department was able to accommodate more than fifty German refugee physicians on its staff and so to assist in some measure in their adjustment during this difficult period.

Separate clinics were established for diseases of the rectum and breast; the former makes its appearance for the first time in the annual statistics as a separate clinic, the latter was organized as a subdivision of the surgical clinics.

Newer forms of advanced therapy were made possible by the addition of new equipment, much of which was donated to the Hospital. The Thrombo-Angiitis Obliterans Clinic was provided with a leg pump permitting rhythmic alternating periods of positive and negative pressure for the treatment of certain forms of circulatory diseases of the extremities. The Physiotherapy Department secured several short-wave machines together with other apparatus. Additional technicians were provided for the latter clinic in an effort to keep up with the increasing demand for these newer forms of therapy.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT

Greater use was made of the well equipped operating room in the Surgical Clinic. During the year 931 minor operations were performed. Postgraduate teaching was conducted in a number of clinics during the formal eight-week course of instruction, as well as a number of separate extra-curricular periods.

For the ninth year, the recreational group in the Mental Hygiene Clinic met weekly. As previously, it was composed of patients under active treatment plus a goodly number of patients who had been discharged from the clinic. This is an original and still almost unique function in extra-mural psychotherapy aiming to supplement clinical treatment. These meetings served in many cases as the only or principal social outlet and group contact for many of the shut-in type of patients. At the meetings, they danced, played cards, ping-pong and basketball, and shared in the refreshments. This activity, believed to be the first of its kind in the country, has been adopted in modified forms by other hospitals.

The Skin Clinic facilities were improved by the addition of apparatus for electro-coagulation and dessication. The acquisition of a Woods filter and the cultivation of fungi on Sabouraud Media helped in the diagnosis of fungus infection. Photographic facilities, donated by members of the staff, provided means of improving the permanent records of important cases. The continued education and training of the staff was stimulated by the introduction of the demonstration of slides illustrative of cases seen in the clinic.

The most important change in the Medical Clinics has been the development of the special dietetic service introduced a year ago to serve patients in all clinics, making it possible for all patients to receive specific dietary instruction by a trained dietitian and by physicians experienced in this branch of medicine.

In the Children's Diabetic Clinic, a Diabetic Manual was prepared and printed by members of the staff with the financial assistance of one of the volunteer workers. These Manuals have already elicited favorable comment and are in great demand. They are written in a popular easy style and intended for instruction of children and adolescents.

REPORT OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL SCHOOL OF NURSING

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL:
Gentlemen:

The fifty-fifth year in the history of the School has been one of further development and progress. Notable changes have occurred in the School's entrance requirements and in the curriculum. In June it was decided that the candidates for admission to the September class should take the psychometric tests which are sponsored by the State Education Department. These tests attempt to measure the scholastic aptitude, mechanical ability and personality of the prospective candidate. Although it is too early to report definite results of these tests, we feel they have demonstrated their value and therefore will be continued as one of our admission requirements. In order to give more advanced instruction before the student actually begins her clinical experience we have extended the four month preliminary period to twenty-four weeks. A schedule of rotation through the various clinical services has been worked out according to the educational needs of the students. In such a schedule theoretical work can be correlated with practice and the student will have a better balance of practical experience. Every effort has been made to systematize and extend the ward teaching program, which is a valuable part of the student's education. Many new records and ward procedure manuals have been compiled which have been most helpful in our clinical teaching.

Through the generosity of the Board we have been able to broaden our program of staff education by having outside lecturers give courses in Mental Hygiene and in current events. Also, because of the fund for higher education it has been possible for a number of our staff to take courses at Teachers' College, Columbia University.

The educational report of the School shows that 9,200 hours of formal instruction were given throughout the year by the instructors, medical staff, and dietitians. During the year we gave comprehensive examinations to the senior students in order to help measure the outcomes of our teaching. It is gratifying to note that the thirty-three young graduates who took the State licensing examinations in September for the first time, passed successfully.

REPORT OF SCHOOL OF NURSING

Two scholarships for part-time work at Teachers' College, Columbia University, were awarded to Miss Suzanne Charles and Miss Ruth Bloomberg. Miss Charles began her studies in September and is majoring in Supervision in Schools of Nursing. Due to illness, Miss Bloomberg has been compelled to postpone her acceptance of this award until a later date.

January marked the completion of Miss Grace A. Warman's first year as Principal of the School and Superintendent of Nurses, and in that brief time she had demonstrated great tact, knowledge and executive ability. We are indeed fortunate that she is head of this important department of the Hospital.

During the year, two groups of preliminary students were admitted to the School, the February section of 44, and the September section of 66, a total of 110. To date, 83 of that number have remained in the School.

As of January 1st, 1936, our student enrollment included 176 students, and 54 probationers. The total full time graduate staff participating in nursing care of patients, technical service and teaching was 168.

A number of important changes in the faculty personnel have occurred during the past year. On March 1st, Miss Mary Cryer, Surgical Supervisor, resigned to accept a position elsewhere. The vacancy thus created was filled by Miss Lottie Phillips, one of our graduates of the class of 1932.

The vacancy of Assistant Superintendent of Nurses was filled March 15th, by the appointment of Miss Minnie Struthers, of the class of 1932. Miss Struthers had done a splendid piece of work as Senior Instructor in Nursing Practice. We are pleased to report that she has been appointed by the State Board of Nurse Examiners as an assistant examiner in Nursing Practice for the licensing examinations in New York State.

In April, Miss Clare Casey, Assistant Principal, resigned to accept the position of Executive Secretary of District 13. Miss Casey had served the School for five years and her resignation was accepted with deep regret. We were fortunate in securing for the position of Assistant Principal Miss Claire H. Favreau, a graduate of Massachusetts General Hospital, and also of Teachers' College, Columbia University. Miss Favreau has had a broad experience and is well qualified for this important position.

REPORT OF SCHOOL OF NURSING

In September the position of Science Instructor was filled by the appointment of Miss Beatrice Cane, a graduate of the New England Deaconess Hospital, and also of Teachers' College, Columbia University.

The health program of the School has been strengthened by having chest X-rays of all students taken on admission and repeated annually as part of their physical examination. On May 1st we most reluctantly accepted Dr. Zeman's resignation as physician to the School. Dr. Solon Bernstein was appointed by the Board to fill the vacancy. On behalf of the Board, I wish to record its gratitude and appreciation to the School physicians and consultants, who have given themselves unsparingly in the excellent care of our graduates and students.

We also wish to express our sincere thanks to the Director of the Hospital, Dr. Joseph Turner, for his never-failing cooperation and valuable assistance.

If the curriculum of any school is to operate on the highest level it must be concerned with developing in the student an interest in positive health and worthy use of leisure. Toward this end, the direction of Miss Marion Crozier has provided for corrective gymnastics and various sports. Many other recreational activities, such as dances, special parties, concerts and dramatics, have also been enjoyed by the students. These have been in charge of the Student Council and the social committee of the Faculty.

We are deeply grateful to Miss Adeline Wood, Supervising Dietitian, and her staff, who have contributed to the educational program of the students, and given their efficient assistance at all our social functions.

We feel certain that a high standard of nursing service to our patients has been maintained despite the many difficulties encountered in trying to stabilize the nursing service. Since last summer we have experienced a shortage of nurses for general duty positions and there were many changes in this group during the year.

The Alumnae Association of the School of Nursing now numbers approximately 715 members. Its splendid welfare work continues to be an outstanding part of its program. Many Alumnae members have enjoyed the benefits of hospital service during the year.

REPORT OF SCHOOL OF NURSING

During the past year, 6,628 calls for private duty nurses have been received in the Registry. This is 249 calls more than the number received in 1934. Although we have had a daily average of 68 nurses on our call list it is noted that the calls have increased in the last two months, due to the increase of illness in the community.

The Board takes pleasure in extending its sincere thanks to the Faculty and the Staff for their faithful service and loyalty to the best interests of the School.

Respectfully submitted,

HUGO BLUMENTHAL,

*President of The Mount Sinai Hospital

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL:
Gentlemen:

STATISTICS—During the past year there have been no outstanding changes in the routine of the department. We took 7,652 cases under care, which were 598 less than the previous year. This decrease is accounted for by the fact that there were fewer admissions to the adult wards due to building renovations. 534 fewer cases were closed and 134 more cases were reopened than in 1934. The staff also recorded 24,058 contacts with patients, 1,233 more than the previous year. 15,621 field visits exceeded last year's figures by 2,600. 1,733 patients were sent for convalescent care, an increase of 46 over last year. The staff gave 155,205 interviews, approximately the same number as last year.

ADULT WARDS—Notwithstanding the curtailment of admissions to the adult wards, the social workers were as busy as before because of the necessity of making rapid disposition of cases in order to make room for new patients urgently in need of hospitalization. This in turn made it obligatory to do more intensive case work and carry patients for a longer period after they left the hospital.

A redistribution of the workers and the addition of one staff worker enabled us to give more adequate attention to the gynecological patients, permitting the worker assigned to the gynecological wards to extend her services to the gynecological clinic patients.

CHILDREN'S SOCIAL SERVICE—The workers in the Children's Department carried heavy case loads. The social workers noted that children were thinner and malnutrition had increased, that nervous irritability was more apparent, and that adjustments in the homes were made particularly difficult because of poor housing conditions, lack of resources, worry and family discord. On the recommendation of physicians many requests for extra diet allowances were sent to the Emergency Relief Bureau. Although the allowances were very small, they proved helpful, as periodical checkups showed a slight gain in weight and general improvement in many cases. Our workers spent much time assisting families to find apartments at the rental allowance of the Emergency Relief Bureau. In a number of cases they were able to effect increases to the maximum allowance of $25.00. These services were rendered not only by the workers in the Children's Department, but when necessary in all other departments.

In the Children's Allergy Clinic the social worker is assisting one of the doctors in writing a pamphlet for the use of patients and their guardians, explaining the nature of allergic diseases. An educational exhibit of mounted specimens such as ragweed, grasses, and other pollens, horse hair, silkfloss, cotton, house dust, glues, cleaning fluids and, if possible, a miniature model anti-allergic sleeping room are planned. It is hoped that this will fill a long standing need for available information to parents of allergic children, and thus obviate the need of repeating instructions. This clinic is growing rapidly, and the social worker will need assistance or be obliged to limit her intake. We distributed many yards of fabrikoid to cover mattresses and pillows for the asthma patients, as well as beds and unupholstered furniture.

CARDIACS—The Wednesday afternoon clinic for adult cardiacs has grown considerably. One of the children's cardiac clinic workers who carries this clinic gives almost one-half of her time to it. The opportunities for retraining as well as finding employment for these cases and all physically handicapped patients are at present very limited. Irvington House with its enlarged facilities for cardiac children aided us greatly in reducing our convalescent waiting list.

SUMMER WORK—During the summer we sent 498 children to the country. In accordance with our policy of the past few years we sent only those children who for physical reasons required the change. Children, needing a vacation only and who for strictly social reasons had to go away, were referred to other agencies. We found that very few children were denied vacations because of our procedural change. 200 children or about 40% remained away for longer periods of time than the accustomed two weeks. The placing of the specialized groups such as cardiac and asthmatic children was still difficult. A small group of asthmatic children was again sent to a private boarding place and to a convalescent home in Milford, Connecticut. The Max J. Breitenbach Cottage at Long Branch, New Jersey, again filled an urgent need for the 87 mothers and their small children whom we sent there last summer, and we are most appreciative of Mrs. Breitenbach's generosity and interest in our work.

CORRECTIVE EXERCISE CLASS—43 children have been registered in the Corrective Exercise Class which met twice a week. The increased individual attention to the children has been of great benefit to them. Health talks were often given and mothers were frequently invited to attend the classes.

RADIOTHERAPY DEPARTMENT—The pressure of work in the Radiotherapy Department was very great. Should it increase, it will be impossible for one worker to give adequate service.

ADULT OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT CLINICS—The work in the afternoon Medical Clinic has also grown steadily. Since many new cases that were referred to the social worker called for immediate attention, it was not possible for her to do much intensive case work.

Lately, we have again been able to obtain eye glasses as well as other appliances from the Emergency Relief Bureau, but the patients who are eligible for this medical relief must meet certain requirements. Those who do not qualify under the Emergency Relief Bureau rules and those who are on Work Relief or have incomes wholly inadequate to allow for medical expenses are supplied with glasses by our department. How great the demand for this service has become is best attested by the fact that during the course of the year our department furnished more than 2,000 pairs of glasses to patients.

An additional clerk was appointed to our staff and was placed at the information desk in the Social Service office in the Out-Patient Department Annex.

MENTAL HEALTH CLASS—Considerable thought was given in the Mental Health Class to the revision and improvement of records. The new form contemplated, but which has not as yet been adopted, will include the social history as well as notes on occupational therapy. The clinic staff held evening conferences from time to time, which were also attended by the social workers.

EMERGENCY WORKROOM—The emergency workroom completed its second year. Miss Edith Sachs, who is in charge, was assisted by Mrs. Siegfried F. Hartman and Mrs. Robert E. Binger. The teacher provided by the Adult Education Department of the State Department of Education was recalled and replaced by us with a part time paid worker. The attendance increased gradually until we now employ three part time workers. Fifty patients in all have been attending the workroom since its inception, and we have found that the workroom has been of great value to them. Although the earning of money has been helpful to these patients, it is considered the least important part of the work. The human contacts, and the thought of having a place to go and be able to work a few hours a day, have made the patients much happier and have raised their morale considerably. Those physically fit have been given, as a result, sufficient courage to take their places again in industry; while those who have not been able to resume their work, have acquired a new perspective and a new outlook on life.

STAFF EDUCATION—Five staff members were chosen for individual instruction and for a weekly group conference with the staff educator. The staff meetings were planned in two sections. One was under the direction of the educational director. Her program consisted of bringing in speakers from allied fields of work, and several staff meetings centered around our own field of work. The second was entirely left to a small committee of the staff who decided to study the question of socialized medicine. Four staff meetings have so far been held on this subject.

STUDENT NURSES—In accordance with our usual custom we arranged for a series of lectures to our student nurses and we are indebted to the following speakers who so graciously consented to address them. Miss Ruth Yerian, Referee on Workmen's Compensation Cases, New York State; Commissioner H. W. Marsh, Department of Public Welfare, New York City; Miss Halle D. Woods, Superintendent, Bureau of Family Rehabilitation and Relief, Association for Improving the Conditions of the Poor; Dr. Adolph Jacoby, Supervisor of Clinic Physicians, Department of Health; Miss Ethel Weinstein, Social Worker, Radiotherapy Clinic, Mount Sinai Hospital; Mrs. Edith Shatto King, Director of the Social Service Exchange of the Welfare Council; Miss Eleanor Clifton, Secretary of the Riverside District of the Institute of Family Service; Mr. Sydney Maslen, Secretary, Tenement House Committee, Institute of Family Service; Miss Caroline Flanders, Director, Bureau of Information, Department of Public Welfare; and Dr. I. Rosen, Dermatologist, Mount Sinai Hospital.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE—The Conference Committee on Social Service has been enlarged and now consists of 6 physicians and 7 members of the Social Service Auxiliary. One meeting was held during the year, and as a result of this meeting three physicians on the Committee were asked to study the convalescent needs of 100 consecutive hospital discharges. The study, which was made, is now being discussed with the attending physicians of the Hospital.

MEDICAL FOLLOW-UP—The Medical Follow-up Department sent 17,975 notifications to patients to attend the clinic with a result of 13,460 visits, an average attendance of 75%.

VOLUNTEERS—112 volunteers have served the Hospital in the past year. There are regularly some 96 volunteers performing a variety of work which includes helping in clinics, teaching kindergarten, doing tests for the Consultation Service, assorting clothes to be given to needy patients, doing laboratory and library work, and keeping special records and making studies for individual physicians.

The work of the volunteers is greatly appreciated by all. The growing dependability of the volunteers is creating for them a position of increasing trust and responsibility, and at the same time adds to the interest of their work.

COOPERATING AGENCIES—We have continued to receive as heretofore excellent cooperation from the various agencies in the community. We were able to obtain from the Emergency Relief Bureau housekeeping services, additional diet allowances and some appliances for our patients, which have been helpful. On the other hand, relief is still very inadequate. The policy of the Emergency Relief Bureau to allow not more than $25.00 for rent, and less than that in most cases, caused hardship for many of our patients, such as cardiacs, asthmatics, and those with large families. Many unfortunately were forced to use part of their food allowances for the payment of higher rent. There has been very little increase in the number of self-supporting families under our care. A great number are either on relief or derive support from W.P.A. The patients continued to turn to our social workers for assistance and direction.

CLOTHING—As in previous years we found large numbers of our patients poorly and inadequately clothed. The Department purchased 2,825 articles, and 1,553 individuals received clothing during the year. We are grateful for the donations which were received from Mrs. Leo Prince's Knitting Group, the Needlework Guild of America and many kind friends.

NEEDS—It was very difficult to obtain convalescent care for men and adolescent boys, Porto Ricans, negroes, and children from two to four. There are no convalescent homes which take as free or even as part pay cases patients with stomach ulcers, colitis and diabetes requiring modified diets, with lung abscesses and bronchiectasis, with non-infectious skin diseases, or with chronic diseases with an acute flare-up.

Insufficient care for the chronically ill is still confronting us. Within the past few months a W.P.A. project has been inaugurated as an experiment under the supervision of the Henry Street Visiting Nurses Association for the care of the chronically ill in their homes. Through this service it is possible to secure a visiting housekeeper under the supervision of a Henry Street nurse. This project has proved helpful. The transfer of chronic cases to other hospitals and homes is still a major problem. Special facilities for border line mental cases are needed. Our greatest problems are still deplorable housing conditions, as well as inadequate incomes of Home Relief families, facilities for re-education of the handicapped, and sheltered workshops.

SOCIAL SERVICE AUXILIARY—It was with regret that we accepted the resignation of Mrs. Hugh Grant Straus and Mrs. Claude Lazard from our Board. Mrs. Frank L. Weil succeeded Mrs. Lazard as Chairman of Volunteers.

We welcomed Mrs. Robert E. Binger and Mrs. Leonard A. Cohn as new members of the Board.

Mrs. Walter A. Hirsch after serving very efficiently as Chairman of the Children's Health Class for many years, resigned and has taken the chairmanship of the Gynecological Service Committee. Mrs. Philip A. Roth who has always been actively interested in the Children's Health Class and has also contributed very generously to its support has, I am pleased to say, taken the chairmanship of this committee. Many of the Board members have continued as in past years to devote themselves unceasingly to the advancement of Social Service, and I am grateful for their splendid cooperation. The Board participated actively in the Federation Campaign as well as in the United Hospital Fund Drive.

I am happy to take advantage of this opportunity to express my appreciation for the excellent work performed by Mrs. Mendelsohn and her staff, and to thank the Board of Trustees and Dr. Turner for their assistance given us upon all occasions.

Respectfully submitted,

RUTH M. COOK,
President of the Social Service Auxiliary.

THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL LADIES' AUXILIARY SOCIETY

OFFICERS

MRS. LEOPOLD BERNHEIMER	PRESIDENT
MRS. OSCAR ROSE	TREASURER
MRS. JOSEPH A. ARNOLD	SECRETARY

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL:
Gentlemen:

Although looking ahead to the year 1936, let me not forget the year that has just passed, a year that found us still working industriously, cutting and making many thousands of surgical dressings so much needed for the patients of our Hospital. Our ladies have given of their best energies in this work, and we want to acknowledge thankfully the kind letter of appreciation received from the Trustees some months ago.

I am sure we are all proud of the work we have been able to do, and look forward hopefully to be able to continue in the future with the same good results.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. LEOPOLD BERNHEIMER,
President.

Extracts from the Constitution on Endowed Beds and Endowments

- A Contribution of $2,500 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Life Bed. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the general wards of the main Hospital, free of charge.
- A Contribution of $3,500 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Memorial Bed. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the main Hospital, free of charge. Such donor may bequeath that right to a successor appointed by the said donor in his or her last will and testament, or by any other instrument under seal. In the event of such successor being appointed, the rights hereinbefore mentioned shall continue for a period of not over fifty years from the date of such contribution—such period, however, not to end before ten years from the death of the donor.
- A Contribution of $5,000 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Perpetual Bed in the Children's Pavilion. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the wards of the Children's Pavilion, free of charge. Such donor may bequeath that right to a successor appointed by said donor in his or her last will and testament or by any other instrument under seal.
- A Contribution of $7,500 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Perpetual Bed, but where, under the provision of any will executed prior to March 20, 1921, the sum of $5,000 or more is bequeathed to the Hospital in payment of any Perpetual Bed, the Board of Trustees may, at their option, accept such sum in payment of such Perpetual Bed. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the general wards of the main Hospital, free of charge. Such donor may bequeath that right to a successor appointed by said donor in his or her last will and testament, or by any other instrument under seal.
- When a corporation is the donor, the privilege shall expire at the end of twenty-five years from the date of such contribution.
- Tablets to commemorate the endowment of Life and Memorial Beds shall be placed in the ward selected by the donor, subject to the rules of the Hospital. Tablets for Life Beds shall be maintained during the life of the donor, tablets for Memorial Beds for a period not beyond fifty years from the date of their endowment, such period, however, not to end before ten years from the death of the donor. The endowment of a Perpetual Bed shall entitle the donor, or his legal representative, to have a tablet placed in the ward selected by him, or by them, or to have the endowment recorded on a tablet provided for that purpose in the corridor of the Hospital; such tablets shall be maintained in perpetuity.
- A donor may change a Life Bed endowed by him or her to a Memorial Bed by making an additional contribution of $1,000, or to a Perpetual Bed by making an additional contribution of $5,000, or may change a Memorial Bed to a Perpetual Bed by making an additional contribution of $4,000.
- No patient shall occupy a Life, Memorial or Perpetual Bed unless he shall comply with the current rules of the Hospital and be a proper subject for treatment according to its regulations.
- An endowment for the establishing of any special fund may be accepted by a resolution of the Board of Trustees. Such fund may be created either for a special purpose, in which event the income therefrom shall be devoted to such purpose only, or under the name of one or more persons, in which event the income therefrom shall be devoted to the general purposes of the Hospital. Such endowment funds shall be kept by the Treasurer as special accounts. Contributions to existing funds may be made at any time, but no funds shall be created with an initial endowment of less than Ten Thousand Dollars.

HISTORICAL NOTE

The Mount Sinai Hospital was organized and incorporated in 1852 for "benevolent, charitable and scientific purposes." The work of the Hospital was begun in a small private dwelling on 28th Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, which accommodated 28 patients. The Hospital now has accommodations for 856 patients, including 18 beds in the receiving ward.

In 1871 the Hospital completed and occupied, at Lexington Avenue, 66th and 67th Streets, a building having a capacity of 200 beds.

The Dispensary, now known as the Out-Patient Department, was inaugurated in 1872.

The clinical departments first organized were those of medicine and surgery; a gynecologist was appointed in 1877.

Mount Sinai created precedents among the hospitals of New York by setting up a distinct pediatric service in 1878 and an otologic service in 1879; the latter was at first combined with, but in 1910 was separated from, ophthalmology and laryngology.

The Mount Sinai Training School for Nurses, in affiliation with the Hospital, was incorporated in March, 1881; the name of the school was changed in 1923 to The Mount Sinai Hospital School of Nursing.

In 1883 a committee was formed to develop a Medical Library.

In 1886 a district medical service was inaugurated.

Provision for the care of private patients was first made in 1886; an intermediate or "semi-private" ward was opened in 1904.

In 1893 a Pathological Department was established, and consultants in dermatology and neurology were appointed.

The corner stone of the group of ten hospital buildings occupying the block bounded by Fifth and Madison Avenues, 100th and 101st Streets, was laid May 22nd, 1901; the buildings were completed and occupied March 15th, 1904, when 500 beds became available for the care of the sick.

HISTORICAL NOTE

A Department of Dietetics was established in 1905.

A Social Service Department was inaugurated in 1906.

A Tuberculosis Clinic was organized in 1908.

The first of a series of "Fellowship" funds was created in 1908 to assist investigators engaged in scientific medical work.

The Hospital's first X-ray machine was installed in 1900. In 1910 a full-fledged Department of Radiology was formed and in 1924 the department was subdivided into separate branches for (a) radiography and (b) X-ray and radium therapy.

In 1910 the three-story Out-Patient Building, which had been completed in 1904 was altered to a five-story building, and the Nurses' Home was enlarged from a six-story to an eight-story building. At the same time new isolation wards were erected on the roof of the Medical Building.

A Dental Department was established for the benefit of in-patients in 1910; this work was extended to the Out-Patient Department in 1925.

An orthopedic surgeon and a physio-therapist were named in 1911.

Roof wards for outdoor treatment were erected on the Medical and Surgical Pavilions in 1912.

The Hospital in 1912 accepted a fund "for the advancement of preventive medicine." A "health class" for children was promptly established.

In 1913 the erection of seven additional buildings south of 100th Street was begun; four of these buildings were occupied in 1915, and three, namely, the Private Pavilion, the Children's Pavilion and the Auditorium, were completed in the spring of 1922. With these additions, the Hospital was able to care for 654 patients.

The first of a series of lectureship funds was established in 1913. These funds provided honoraria for distinguished visiting lecturers.

Electro-cardiography was instituted in 1915.

HISTORICAL NOTE

In 1917, Mount Sinai Hospital became a constituent member of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies, which was organized in that year.

Until 1917, tonsillectomies were performed in the Dispensary, often without anesthesia; in the year mentioned, a "tonsil and adenoid" ward, with a fully equipped operating room, was opened.

A Mount Sinai Hospital Unit, organized as a section of the Medical Department of the United States Army, was sent to France in 1918.

Post-Graduate medical instruction was formally organized in 1923, in affiliation with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University.

A permanent fund for the support of medical research was inaugurated in 1925, prior to which research was precariously supported by occasional donations.

The construction of a new school and residence building for the School of Nursing, fronting on 98th Street, between Fifth and Madison Avenues, was begun in 1925 and completed in 1927; the residence accommodates 490 nurses.

The new Semi-Private Pavilion for the care of patients of moderate means was completed and opened to the public in 1931.

Group or cooperative special nursing was introduced for the first time in 1931.

A Consultation Service for ambulant out-patients of moderate means was organized in 1931.

Neuro-surgery was included in General Surgery until 1932, when a separate service was created.

The modernization of the Out-Patient Department Building was completed in 1933.

New facilities for Cystoscopy were built and occupied in 1933.

In 1934, the vacant former laboratory on 101st Street, was renovated and restored to use, providing space for a number of exiled German scientists and others.

HISTORICAL NOTE

Renovation and modernization of the Medical and Surgical Pavilions, part of the group of 10 buildings built in 1901, was begun in 1935 and completed in 1936.

The Isolation Ward was rebuilt in 1936 and, with the approval of the Department of Health, became the first Isolation Unit in New York City to be made available for use of private patients.

The Clinical Photographic Department, on a volunteer basis for more than a score of years, was established on a full time basis in 1936.

The Research Foundation of The Mount Sinai Hospital was incorporated in 1936 "to conduct, promote, encourage, and assist investigation in the services and arts of hygiene, medicine, and surgery and allied subjects."

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The year 1936 has been marked by steady growth in the scientific work of the Hospital and at the same time progress has been made in modernizing some of its main buildings. The modernization of the Medical Pavilion, begun in 1935, was completed and the Medical and Surgical Ward Buildings are now once more in perfect up-to-date condition. To complete the building program adopted in 1928 there remains the Administration Building to be reconditioned. It calls for a modern ventilated amphitheatre to take the place of the present large operating room, for the creation of new facilities for Hydrotherapy, Physiotherapy, Dental, Electrocardiograph and Basal Metabolism Departments and additions on the East and West wings of the Administration Building for increased laboratories facilities.

With the permission of the City authorities a bridge was constructed across 100th Street connecting the 8th floor operating rooms of the Private Pavilion with the 7th floor operating rooms of the Semi-Private Pavilion.

In the last Report, I mentioned the introduction of an eight-hour nursing service on an optional basis. This service was made use of in 1935 to the extent of 2%, which proportion increased in 1936 to 5%. The agitation to make the eight-hour service compulsory continues, as does also the difference of opinion as to the wisdom of such a step. Valid arguments are advanced on both sides and the only sure fact is that the adoption of a general eight-hour service would cause an enormous increase in the cost to the Hospital and to paying patients. For both Hospital and patients it would be a burden difficult and, in many cases, practically impossible to carry.

The number of patients treated in the Hospital in 1936 was 15,205 against 13,858 in 1935. In the Private Pavilion there were 2,117 patients against 1,780 in 1935. The total number of Hospital days' care rendered in 1936 was 211,177 establishing a new record.

In the Out-Patient Department there were 326,754 consultations in 1936 against 330,755 in 1935. There was an average daily attendance of 158 physicians in this Department.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The number of patients admitted to the Consultation Service shows a most satisfactory increase having risen from 1,747 in 1935 to 2,226 in 1936. This Service was only established at the end of November, 1931 and during the first thirteen months of its existence only 996 patients availed themselves of an opportunity the value of which is being more fully recognized as time passes on.

Salaries and wages were increased in 1936 by $20,000. Adding thereto increases effected in 1934 and 1935 makes the total increase in three years $75,000, and an additional increase of not less than $50,000 is contemplated for 1937. This will bring all the salaries in the lower brackets up to or above the highest wages paid before the depression set in.

As a participating member of the Associated Hospital Service of New York we admitted in 1936 in the Private Pavilion 111 patients with 1,445 days' care and in the Semi-Private Pavilion 163 patients with 2,226 days of care. The payment received by the Hospital from these patients was $3,773 less than if they had been admitted at regular rates. This is a contribution the Hospital is glad to make for the benefit of those who have joined a movement to obtain treatment in case of illness under the most favorable conditions at very reasonable rates.

The attendance of the Post Graduate classes again shows a new record. 225 students attended the regular and extra-curricular courses, an increase of 69 over the figure of 1935.

The average attendance at the Clinical Pathological Conferences was 350.

The Journal of The Mount Sinai Hospital, edited by Dr. Joseph H. Globus, is appearing in an enlarged form and its circulation has increased by over 10%.

An arrangement has been made with the management of the Neustadter Home under which our Hospital has the preference in the use of the facilities of the home and the majority of the Board of Trustees of the home is now selected from the members of our Board. The friendly attitude of the Board of the Neustadter Home which made this arrangement possible is greatly appreciated.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

During the year, a separate corporation was organized in connection with the development of medical research at the Hospital. This corporation, known as Mount Sinai Hospital Research Foundation, Inc., was organized under the Membership Corporations Law with broad powers to promote medical research and utilize the results of medical discoveries, including the power to receive gifts or bequests for purposes limited to medical research, either generally or in special fields. It is hoped that this foundation will receive the financial support which it requires and deserves.

With the approval of the Department of Health of the City of New York we are now in a position to take care of private patients suffering from contagious disease, in the isolation part of the Hospital. This will prove of great service to those stricken with contagious disease and we are glad to be able to offer a service hitherto not adequately provided for.

For many years Mr. Alfred Lowenthal, a volunteer worker, has been acting as photographer to the Hospital and he has rendered splendid service in that capacity. Demands on the Photographic Department continued to increase so much that it was no longer feasible to maintain it on a voluntary basis and it is now headed by a full-time photographer.

We tender our thanks to Mr. Lowenthal for the many years of splendid service he has given us. During that time he has contributed, not only his time and skill, but also generously assumed the expenses connected with the work. He will continue in a consultant capacity to this Department.

The Department of Physical Therapy under the management of Dr. William Bierman has made considerable progress but is still hampered by lack of facilities, which we hope to be able to install gradually.

The Orthopedic Department is conducted with increased vigor and frequently 20 to 30 beds are occupied by that specialty against only 10 cases in former years.

In last year's Report mention was made of the Will of Mr. Edward J. King. The Estate is still in progress of settlement but it appears now that the amount which the Hospital is to receive will be in excess of $1,000,000 instead of $500,000 as previously mentioned.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The expenditures for current purposes of the Hospital including the School of Nursing, the Social Service Department and the Ladies' Auxiliary in 1936 amounted to.....$2,036,531.68
 Receipts applicable to current expenditures were..... 1,845,023.54

Leaving a net deficit of..... $191,508.14

Included in the Receipts are the following:

From Federation—

For the Mount Sinai Hospital Group..... $544,991.81

From the United Hospital Fund—

For the Hospital and the Social Service Auxiliary 94,983.86

From the City of New York..... 125,389.59

From among the Lectures given in the Hospital during 1936 we mention:

The Honorable Lord Thomas Jeeves Horder, Senior Physician to St. Bartholomew's Hospital. "Direct Action in Medicine."
 An Edward Gamaliel Janeway Lecture.

Professor Leon Asher, Professor of Physiology at the University of Berne, Switzerland. "The Thyroid Gland and the Central Nervous System."

Dr. Bernhard Dattner, L.D., Assistant at the Psychiatric and Neurological Clinic, Potzl, Vienna. "Nervous Manifestations of Alimentary Hypersensitivity."

Dr. Manfred Sakel of Vienna. "Hypoglycemia and its Therapeutic Effect on Psychoses."

Dr. Geza Nemet, Assistant Physician, Montefiore Hospital, New York. "Some Aspects of the Radiology of the Heart."

Professor Cardos Monge, Professor of Medical Clinic, Lima, Peru. "Studies in High Altitudes: Chronic Mountain Sickness."

A Pavlov Memorial Meeting was held in the Blumenthal Auditorium, March 24th, 1936. Participants were:

Professor Boris P. Babkin, Research Professor in Physiology, McGill University, Montreal. "I. P. Pavlov: His Life and Work."

Professor Howard S. Liddell, Professor Physiology, Cornell University. "Pavlov, the Psychiatrist of the Future."

The subject of the Ninth Annual Graduate Fortnight of the New York Academy of Medicine was "Trauma, Occupational Diseases and Hazards." As usual many contributions to the program were presented by the Staff of The Mount Sinai Hospital.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

It gives me pleasure to mention that Dr. Edwin Beer was awarded the Distinguished Service Gold Key by the American Congress of Physical Therapy for his work in Electrosurgery of Bladder Tumors.

I regret to report the death, last August, of Maurice Frankfort, for twelve years an active Trustee, for seven years as Vice President and an Honorary Trustee since 1928. Resolutions setting forth his contributions to the Hospital appear in this Report.

Because of his many other duties Mr. David Sarnoff, Trustee since 1929, resigned his office and we regret to have lost his co-operation.

Much to our regret Mr. DeWitt Millhauser resigned as Third Vice President, which office he had held since 1928. Mr. Waldemar Kops was elected in his place.

Messrs. Sheldon R. Coons, Edwin I. Marks, Carl J. Pforzheimer, Jr. were elected members of the Board.

Dr. Isidore Friesner, having reached the age limit, retired from active service and has become Consulting Otologist. Dr. Friesner has given 17 years of splendid service and his activity was of the greatest benefit not only to the patients but also to all his colleagues who had the privilege of working under his guidance. Dr. Friesner was re-elected President of the Medical Board for the year 1937 and we will thus continue to have the benefit of his active interest in the affairs of the Hospital.

The following changes have taken place in our Medical Staff:

RESIGNATIONS

Dr. Edgar D. Oppenheimer.....	Associate Orthopedist (who has been connected with the Hospital for over 25 years)
Dr. Leonard B. Rothschild.....	Adjunct Psychiatrist
Dr. Dudley D. Shoenfeld.....	Adjunct Psychiatrist
Dr. Myer E. Golan.....	Assistant Radiotherapist
Dr. Nathan Sobel.....	District Physician
Dr. Harry Bock.....	Clinical Assistant in Physiotherapy Department

Our sincere thanks are tendered to them for the splendid service rendered to the Institution.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Our thanks and deep appreciation are due to the Managers of Federation and the United Hospital Fund. Through work most intelligently planned and most effectively carried out these two bodies have been of invaluable service to all the Institutions connected with them. Both Associations deserve the whole-hearted support of the Community and we appeal to all our friends to assist them to the limit of their ability.

The operation of the Hospital showed again a very large deficit and in the last three years it was necessary to draw on our very limited capital funds to the extent of over $600,000 to cover the deficiencies. This is a situation of very great concern because unfortunately Mount Sinai is not a rich Institution and cannot long continue on the basis of such deficits. Increased revenue seems the only alternative to curtailment of our work and we hope that the Community, when aware of this danger, will not compel us to lessen our activities.

We tender our thanks for helpful co-operation to:

The City Departments.

Mrs. Alfred A. Cook and her Associates in the Social Service Department.

Mr. Hugo Blumenthal, President, and the Board of Directors of the School of Nursing.

Mrs. Leopold Bernheimer, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and her Associates.

Mrs. Kurt Simon, who provided for the boarding of the horses needed by Dr. Shwartzman in his work.

To all the members of the Medical, Administrative, Nursing and Social Service Staffs for their splendid services to which they have accustomed us since so many years.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE BLUMENTHAL,

President.

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF MR. MAURICE FRANKFORT

In the death of Maurice Frankfort, The Mount Sinai Hospital has lost one of its staunchest friends and loyal supporters.

For twelve years he devoted himself in a truly unselfish way to the needs of the Hospital, giving up most of his days to every branch of its work.

He was elected Second Vice-President in 1921 and was at the helm for a long period during the absence of the President and Vice-Presidents. As Chairman of both the Purchasing and Budget Committees, he rendered invaluable service to the Hospital, and on his retirement in 1928, owing to failing health, he was elected an Honorary Trustee.

In all the years of his service to the Hospital he was beloved by all with whom he came in contact and was an inspiration to his fellow-workers on the Board.

At a special meeting of the Board of Trustees of The Mount Sinai Hospital, held August 17th, it was resolved to fly the flag of the Hospital at half mast until after the funeral.

GEORGE BLUMENTHAL,
President

ARTHUR H. HARLOW,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

The President of the Medical Board takes pleasure in presenting the following report of the activities of the Medical Staff of the Hospital:

THE LABORATORIES: In practically every subdivision of the Laboratories, the total number of routine tests done during the year 1936 has reached or exceeded the figures given for 1935.

TABLE OF LABORATORY EXAMINATIONS

Bacteriology	25,545	22,573
Surgical Pathology	4,884	4,401
Morbid Anatomy (Autopsies)	398 (73.9%)	391 (75%)
Chemistry	11,518	10,440
Endocrinology	3,010	1,465
Clinical Microscopy
Out-Patient Department	11,705	11,927
Private Pavilion	11,645	8,750
Semi-Private Pavilion	10,852	8,475
Hematology	1,130	964

The greatest increase in the routine examinations has been in the departments of Bacteriology, Endocrinology and Clinical Microscopy, particularly in the routine examinations in the Private and Semi-Private Pavilions. Clinical microscopy by technicians has replaced the same work by the wardsmen on the medical services.

The scientific publications for the year 1936 have maintained the same high standard which has characterized them for the past decade. Sixty-four articles were published, and thirty-eight are now in the hands of publishers. Some of the more interesting contributions deal with researches on the physiology of liver and bile, the mechanism of hypertension, experimental attempts to reproduce vascular lesions in thrombo-angiitis obliterans, contributions to pharmacology of which the most important appears to be a new test for male sex hormone, more detailed classification of endocarditis, and a new test for blood diseases.

Encouraging progress has been made on the intricate problems dealing with coronary thrombosis. At the present time monographs are being written on problems relating to the Shwartzman phenomenon, chemistry, and rheumatic fever.

The greatest need of the Laboratory is the creation of a Department of Physiology. All departments are crowded and in need of space, increased technical assistance and additional subsidies in the form of Fellowships. To meet these needs will require the construction of a new additional laboratory building, but until this is possible, the Hospital should make every effort to provide, even in a modified form, for the most urgent needs of the present organization.

The following articles were published from the Laboratories:

1. Heart Failure in Hypertension.
2. Acute Febrile Anemia and Thrombocytopenic Purpura with Platelet Thrombi in the Capillaries and Arterioles.
3. Technic of Experimental Coronary Sinus Ligation.
4. Acute Cholecystitis Associated with Pancreatic Reflux.
5. Differential Quantitative Analysis of Bile Acids in Bile and in Duodenal Drainage.
6. Reparative Processes in the Labyrinth Secondary to Meningococcus Meningitis. Report of a Case.
7. Labyrinthitis Secondary to Meningococcic Meningitis. A Clinical and Histopathologic Study.
8. Aural Manifestations of Lipoid Granulomatosis (Hand-Schüller Christian's Disease).
9. Clinical Significance of the Cholesterol Partition of the Blood Plasma in Hepatic and in Biliary Diseases.
10. Metabolism of Various Types of Sugars by S and R Forms of Pneumococcus.
11. Extraction of Gonadotropic Factors from the Blood. Improved Technic.
12. Gonadotropic Excretion in the Male Castrate. Effect of the Male Sex Hormones.
13. The Primary Complex (Initial Anatomic Lesion in Childhood Type of Tuberculosis). A Historical Study.
14. Pericardial Lesions in Rheumatic Fever.
15. Nonbacterial Thrombotic Endocarditis. Associated with Acute Thrombocytopenic Purpura.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

16. Nonbacterial Thrombotic Endocarditis. Associated with Prolonged Fever, Arthritis, Inflammation of Serous Membranes and Widespread Vascular Lesions.
17. Effect of Estrogenic Substance on Blood Volume.
18. Toe Lesions Following Tobacco Injection in Rats.
19. Brenner Tumors of the Ovary.
20. Morphologic Aspects of the Local Shwartzman Phenomenon.
21. The Shwartzman Phenomenon in the Kidneys of Rabbits —Observations on Effects of Intravenous Administration of Bacterial Filtrates.
22. The Changes within the Cells of the Gastric Mucosa during Secretory Activity.
23. Chronic Epidemic Encephalitis with Massive Scar Formation in the Midbrain Simulating Brain Tumor.
24. Intracranial Hemorrhage. Its Anatomical Forms and Some of their Clinical Features.
25. Disseminated Toxic Degenerative Encephalopathy (Disseminated Sclerosing Demyelination) Secondary to Extensive and Severe Burns.
26. Moccasin Snake (Ancistrodon Piscivorus) Venom Therapy for Recurrent Epistaxis.
27. Complications of Acute Sinusitis with Special Reference to Bacteremias.
28. Lesions in the Auriculoventricular Conduction System Occurring in Rheumatic Fever.
29. Lesions in the Cardiac Valve Rings in Rheumatic Fever.
30. Nonbacterial Thrombotic Endocarditis. Classification and General Description.
31. Lesions of the Cardiac Valves in Rheumatic Fever.
32. Electrocardiographic Changes Following Coronary Sinus Occlusion in the Dog's Heart.
33. Hemodynamics Following Experimental Coronary Occlusion in Dogs.
34. Spontaneous Hepaticoduodenostomy.
35. The Pathology of Influenza.

36. The Pathologic Anatomy of Splenomegaly.
37. Frequency and Significance of Hepatic Edema.
38. Observations on Lymphogranuloma Venereum. Clinical Pathological Study of Sixty Cases with Observations on the Histopathology of the Frei Test.
39. Further Study of Adenoma of the Bronchus.
40. Arhinencephaly with Extreme Eversion of the End-Brain. An Anatomic Study.
41. A Sectional Test Tube Rack for Use in the Titration of Serologic and Other Biologic Reactions.
42. The Blood Clearance and Renal Excretion of Bile Acids Following the Intravenous Injection of Cholic and Desoxycholic Acids.
43. Pseudohernia. A Visible Manifestation of Local Anesthetic Action.
44. Pharmacological Contributions to the Problem of the Autonomic Control of Skeletal Muscle Tonus.
45. Choleic Acids VI. Isomerism and Coordinative Valence; Colored Choleic Acids.
46. Inhibition of the Schwartzman Phenomenon.
47. The Value of the Prognostic Venom Reaction in Thrombocytopenic Purpura.
48. Malignant Teratoma of the Urinary Bladder.
49. Ionized Blood Calcium in Patients with Renal Calculi.
50. Nature of Peripheral Resistance in Arterial Hypertension.
51. Pressor Effects of Kidney Extracts from Patients and Dogs with Hypertension.
52. Congenital Atresia and Stenosis of the Aqueduct of Sylvius; an Anatomic Study of Six Cases.
53. The Significance of the Monocytes in Agranulocytosis (Leukopenic Infectious Monocytosis).
54. Blood Amylase Response to Acetyl-Beta-Methylcholine Chloride in Rabbits.
55. Reactivity of Malignant Neoplasms to Bacterial Filtrates. I. The Effect of Spontaneous and Induced Infections on the Growth of Mouse Sarcoma 180.

56. Reactivity of Malignant Neoplasms to Bacterial Filtrates. II. Relation of Mortality to Hemorrhagic Necrosis and Regression Elicited by certain Bacterial Filtrates.
57. Phenomenon of Local Skin Reactivity to Bacterial Filtrates: Effect of Bacterial Filtrates Injected Intravascularly upon Reactions to Antigen + Antibody Complexes.
58. Treatment of Typhoid with an Antitoxic Antityphoid Serum.
59. The Phenomenon of Local Tissue Reactivity to Bacterial Filtrates. The Role of Altered Vascular Response in Certain Human Diseases.
60. Multiple Osteogenic Sarcoma.
61. Selective Fermentation. III. Fermentation of Hexose-Pentose Mixtures.
62. Selective Fermentation. IV. Trehalose Formation in Cell-Free Alcoholic Fermentation.
63. Calcific Sclerosis of the Aortic Valve (MONCKEBERG TYPE).
64. Observations of Ulcerations Adjacent to Experimental Gastric Pouches in Dogs.

The following articles are in the process of publication:

1. Choline Esterase Activity and Hyperthyroidism.
2. Differential Analysis of Bile Acids in Human Bile from Fistulas.
3. Hepatic Excretion in Man of the Various Bile Acids after their Oral Administration.
4. Absorption of Fat from the Human Ileum.
5. Monocytoid Myeloblastic Leukemia.
6. Thyrotoxicosis with Psychosis: Clinico-neuropathologic Observations in a Case.
7. Massive Diffuse Puberty Hypertrophy of the Breasts.
8. Theca Cell Tumors of the Ovary.
9. Contribution made by Radiologic Evidence after the Injection of Iodized Oil.
10. The Meningiomas: Their Origin, Divergence in Structure, and Relationship to Contiguous Tissues in the Light of the Phylogenesis and Ontogenesis of the Meninges, with a Suggestion of a Simplified Classification of Meningeal Neoplasms.

11. Additional Data on the Treatment of Uterine Bleeding with Snake Venom.
12. Significance of Blood Vessels in Human Heart Valves.
13. The So-called Congenital Bicuspid Aortic Valve.
14. The Aortic Commissural Lesion in Rheumatic Fever.
15. Experimental Attempts to Increase the Blood Supply to the Dog's Heart by Means of Coronary Sinus Occlusion.
16. Hemodynamics Following Experimental Coronary Occlusion in Dogs. I. Open Chest Experiments.
17. Hemodynamics Following Experimental Coronary Occlusion in Dogs. II. Closed Chest Experiments.
18. Hemodynamics Following Experimental Coronary Occlusion in Dogs. III. Denervated Heart Experiments.
19. Tobacco Hypersensitivity in Rats.
20. Primary Sarcoma of the Liver.
21. Experimental Nephropathies.
22. The Spleen.
23. Necrotizing Encephalitis; Simulating Brain Tumor Clinically and due to Necrotizing Angiitis.
24. Paradoxical Effect of Intravenously Injected Sodium Cyanide in Small Doses on Cardiac Rate and Blood Pressure in Dogs.
25. Determination of Icteric Index by the Acetone Method.
26. The Use of Moccasin Venom in Hemorrhagic Conditions.
27. Observations on an intradermal Venom Reaction. A New Method of Determining Capillary Fragility.
28. Purpura. Classification and Treatment. With Special Reference to Snake Venom.
29. The Relation of Vitamin C to Resistance.
30. Unusual Creatine Excretion in a Case of Pseudohypertrophic Muscular Dystrophy.
31. Tobacco Allergy in Thromboangiitis Obliterans and Coronary Artery Disease.
32. Pial Epidermoid of the Chiasmal Region.
33. Streptococcus Haemolyticus Bacteremia. A Study of 168 Cases.
34. The Role of B. Friedlander in Infections.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

35. Chemical Investigations on the Active Principles of the Phenomenon of Local Skin Reactivity to Bacterial Filtrates. I. Purification by Dialysis and Attempts at Fractional Precipitations.
36. Relation of Blood Group Specific Substance A to Type Specific Carbohydrate of Pneumococcus Type I.
37. Studies in the Metabolism of Sodium-d-lactate. I. The Utilization of Intravenously Injected Sodium-d-lactate by the Normal Individual.
38. Hematological Observations on Bone Marrow obtained by Sternal Puncture.

MEDICAL SERVICES: The major advances of the Medical Services have included a strengthening of the staff of the Out-Patient Department and an improvement in the correlation of the work of the Medical Department with other departments of the Hospital and Out-Patient Department. The latter has been accomplished in part by devoting one-half of each of the monthly conferences of the Medical Service to a joint meeting with one or more of the special services of the Hospital. At this time, inter-departmental relationships were frankly discussed and plans made for improvements.

Members of the Staff delivered several lectures at the Academy of Medicine. One on "Trauma and its Relation to Circulatory Disease," one on "Angina and Physiology of the Conduction System in the Mammalian Heart," and one on "Surgical Jaundice."

During the course of the year, thirty of the attending staff who participated in the Post-Graduate Medical Courses received teaching titles according to their rank from Columbia University.

There was a decided advance in the number of registrations of post-graduate students during the year of 1936 over that of the preceding years. Registration for the regular fall series of courses in November and December, 1936 exceeded the previous highest record of enrollment by 62 students. The total number of students in 1936 was 223, who took 302 courses. Forty-one different courses were given. The registration in the courses of medicine was the highest, totaling 120. Next were the students in radiography who numbered 61, and next in order were those in pediatrics with a total of 38. Seven new courses were offered and conducted this year. Most of the post-graduate students come from Greater New York with a large number from New Jersey.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

With the increasing interest which is being taken in graduate and post-graduate instruction in the United States, the teaching of interns, graduate students and post-graduate students at Mount Sinai Hospital is becoming rapidly more important. The attending staff has met this increasing demand, although it has been a greater burden each year.

A great variety of publications appeared during the year recording research work, or clinical observations made by members of the Medical Services upon the following subjects:

1. Untoward Effects of Diuresis.
2. The Metabolism of Bile Salts.
3. The Pharmacology of Ergotamine Tartrate.
4. The Value of Psychoanalysis as a Therapeutic Procedure.
5. The Relationship of Allergy to Cardiac Arrhythmias.
6. Iontophoresis.
7. Thrombocytopenic Purpura Due to Sedormid.
8. Coronary Artery Disease in Women.
9. Atypical Roentgen Appearance of Pulmonary Infarction.
10. Dietary Deficiencies.
11. Calcific Sclerosis of the Aortic Valve.
12. Pathogenesis of Cardiac Hypertrophy in Graves' Disease.
13. The Pathogenesis of Lung Abscess.
14. Suppurative Mediastinitis.
15. The Pathology of Bronchial Adenoma.
16. Vascular Lesions in Thrombocytopenic Purpura.
17. Experimental Arsphenamine Hepatitis.
18. Blood and Urine Electrolyte Changes in Acute Yellow Atrophy.
19. The Metabolism of Sodium-d-lactate.
20. Blood and Urine Electrolyte Studies in Tumors of the Adrenal Cortex.
21. The Circulatory Dynamics of Heart Failure.
22. The Effect of Moccasin Snake Venom in Scarlet Fever.
23. Nodal Bigemini.
24. The Effect of a Low Calory Diet on Volume Output and Work of the Heart.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

25. Undernutrition and the Treatment of Coronary Artery Disease.
26. A Study of 250 Attacks of Coronary Thrombosis.
27. Electrophoretic Anaesthesia of the Skin.
28. Studies on Electrokinetic Phenomena.
29. The Pharmacology of Non-Toxic Imadizoles.
30. Determination of the Fat Content of the Feces in Sprue.
31. The Diagnosis of Certain Parasitic Disease.
32. The Serum Therapy of Typhoid Fever.
33. The Use of Circulatory Measurements in Evaluating Pulmonary and Cardiac Factors in Chronic Lung Disorders.
34. Localization of Ventricular Extrasystoles in a Human Heart with Right Axis Deviation.
35. Bradycardia and Hyperthermia at Onset of Acute Appendicitis.
36. Bio-Assay of a Parathyroid Adenoma in a Case of Generalized Osteitis Fibrosa.
37. Clinical Significance of the Cholesterol Partition of the Blood Plasma in Hepatic and Biliary Diseases.
38. Vasomotor Effects of Blood in Patients with Hypertension.
39. Nature of Peripheral Resistance in Patients with Hypertension.
40. Pressor Effects of Kidney Extracts from Patients and Dogs with Hypertension.
41. Clinical Aspects of Amyloidosis.
41. Hiatus Hernia.
42. Superior Sulcus Tumor.
43. Surgical Jaundice.
44. Trauma and Septicemia.

In addition, papers are about to be published on the following subjects:

1. Variability in the Pathological Findings in Cushing's Syndrome.
2. Dissecting Necrotic Pneumonia Complicating Diabetes Mellitus with Pancreatic Lithiasis.
3. Tuberous Sclerosis with Renal Tumor.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

4. The Cholesterol Metabolism in Liver Diseases.
5. The Liver in Thyroid Diseases.
6. Relationship Between Bleeding and Pain in Peptic Ulcers.
7. Sequelae of Echinococcus Disease of Liver
8. Myxedema Subsequent to Graves' Disease.
9. Cortical Abscess of Kidney.
10. Graves' Disease and Autonomic Imbalance.
11. Relation of the Kidney to Hypertension.
12. Study of Medical Aspects of Thyroid Disease.
13. Study of Ocular Aspects of Thyroid Disease.
14. Development of Hyperthyroidism following Hypothyroidism.

Investigations are still being carried on concerning:

1. Shwartzman Phenomenon in Lung of Rabbit.
2. Glycogen Disease in Siblings.
3. The Hypometabolic Individual.
4. Certain Aspects of Adrenal Function.
5. Aspergillosis of Lungs.
6. Coronary Lesions in Polycythemia Vera.
7. Psychogenic Factors in Peptic Ulcer.
8. Hypertension of Cerebrospinal Circuit.
9. Nature of the Pressor Substances in Kidney Extracts.

PEDIATRIC SERVICE: There has been considerable activity on the Pediatric Service during the past year and papers have appeared on many various topics. The following are the subjects of publications that have been printed or are about to appear:

1. Kaposi Sarcoma in Children.
2. Lupus Erythematosus.
3. Studies in Water Metabolism and Insensible Perspiration.
4. Vitamin C in the Blood and Urine.
5. Myringitis Bullosa in Childhood.
6. Retrograde Jugular Bulb and Lateral Sinus Thrombosis.
7. A new Canula for Intravenous Injection.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

Work is in progress on :

1. The Effect of Infectious Diseases on the Shick Test.
2. The Influence of Vitamin C on Diphtheria Toxin.
3. Elimination Diets in Eczema
4. The Effect of Certain Drugs on the Insensible Perspiration.
5. Measles Prophylaxis.

The new units of cubicles for infants placed in Ward Y last year have proven so satisfactory that a third unit consisting of five cubicles has been installed. The fifth cubicle of this unit has been converted into a miniature oxygen chamber for infants. This should prove a most valuable and practical addition to the equipment.

DERMATOLOGICAL SERVICE: Research is being carried on both from the pharmacological and histological viewpoints. New therapeutic measures are being employed in fungus infections. This necessitates a great deal of laboratory work and there is now a well trained and qualified group of men in the laboratory. Research is also being carried on with a new method for the treatment of psoriasis which consists of an attempt to sensitize psoriatic patches to ultra-violet light therapy. The histological department has cooperated with the clinical workers. Studies on the effect of snake venom is continuing, especially with regard to the development of a new skin test for capillary fragility.

Publications have appeared on a wide range of topics, viz., syphilis, snake venom therapy in hemorrhagic diseases, atrophies of the skin, studies of purpuric eruptions and blood chemistry findings in various diseases. This last work has proven to be a great help in the differential diagnosis between lymphogranuloma inguinale and syphilis. There has been active teaching clinically as well as histologically, especially training members of the staff in preparing for the American Board Examinations.

NEUROLOGICAL SERVICE: The following publications have been made from the Neurological Service in the current year :

1. Sigmund Freud: His Work and Influence. Which was read before the joint session of the American Psychoanalytic Association and the American Psychiatric Association in St. Louis.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

2. Feeling of Unreality.
3. Observations and Results of Therapeusis of Problem Children in a Dependency Institution.
4. A Case of Angio-neurotic Edema.
5. The Dynamics and Therapy of Depressive States.
6. Lilliputian Dreams.
7. Judicious Selection of Cases for Psychoanalytic Therapy.
8. A Problem Case as Treated in an Institution.
9. Psychiatric Treatment of a Psychoneurotic Boy in an Institution.
10. The Meaning of Children's Habits.
11. Mental Symptoms in Cases of Subtentorial Tumor.
12. Observations of the Effect and the Diagnostic Value of Intraspinal Lipiodography.
13. Lymphorrhagia Retinalis Traumatica.
14. Results of Studies with the Rorschach Method in the Convulsive States.
15. Disseminated Spinal Arachnoiditis.
16. Schwannoma of the Cauda Equina.
17. Meningo-Encephalo-Myeloradiculitis, a Clinico-pathological Study.
18. A Typical Case of Raynaud's Disease.
19. Psychological Study of an Hermaphrodite.
20. Auriculo-temporal Syndrome.
21. Can the Neurological Complications of Pernicious Anemia be Prevented?

SURGICAL SERVICES: On one of the Surgical Services, further studies in the treatment of urinary lithiasis by dietary measures, renal tumors, especially of renal vein involvement, and on coccal infection of the renal cortex have been continued.

On another service, studies have been carried on in the surgical management of some complications of a form of broncho-pneumonia which is being termed necro-suppurative and which has become a condition fairly frequently encountered recently; it is virtually a new variety of the disease, having been seen only rarely in previous years, but in the past year or two is almost epidemic. Successful surgery for carcinoma of the esophagus and successful removal of whole lungs are being continued; further development of the surgery of acute abscess of the lung is now uniformly accepted throughout the hospital and is being gradually taken up at various clinics in this country and in other hospitals; studies are being continued in the surgical management of infections of the mediastinum, development of plastic surgical operative procedure of various sorts, the transplantation of free tissue grafts for the closure of pulmonary cavities, and the treatment of certain forms of tuberculous cavities of the lung by direct operative approach.

On a third Surgical Service, the following clinical and experimental research has been continued:

1. An Investigation Concerning an Intravenous Cholesterol Tolerance Test as an Index of Liver Function.
2. An Attempt to Correlate Lesions of the Biliary Tract (Particularly Cholelithiasis) with Coronary Artery Disease.
3. An Investigation Concerning the Relationship between Mesenteric Adenitis and Acute Appendicitis.
4. A Study of Acute Cholecystitis Associated with Pancreatic Reflux.
5. A Study of the Differential Quantitative Analysis of Bile Acids in Bile and Duodenal Drainage.
6. A Study of Differential Bile Acid Analysis in Various Pathological Conditions.
7. A Study of the Resistance of the Sphincter of Oddi in the Human.
8. A Study of Biliary Duodenal Intubation.
9. A Study of Differential Analysis of Bile Acids in Human Gall Bladder Bile.
10. A Study of Differential Analysis of Bile Acids in the Human Bile from Fistulas.
11. An Experimental Study of the Endocholedochal Section of the Sphincter of Oddi.
12. A Study of Surgical Mortality in Biliary Tract Disease.
13. The Result of Amfetin Injections in the Prevention of Peritonitis.
14. The Study of Sterilization of Isolated Large Intestinal Loops.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

On the Neuro-surgical Service the work has shown a slight tendency to increase in volume. Further publications on brain abscess were made as well as on the interesting subject of cystic tumors communicating with the ventricles. Before the Fortnight meeting at the Hospital, a large series of chronic subdural hematomas was reported.

GYNECOLOGICAL SERVICE: The Gynecological Service has been extremely active. A considerable number of rare and unique conditions have been treated successfully. Now that the problem of treating prolapse of the uterus has been solved, attention has been focused on the relief of incontinence of urine. Great interest has been evinced in this subject and the cases have been studied by pre-operative cystoscopic examination; the number of operative cures has increased.

A new development is the application of hyperthermic treatment of acute and chronic gonorrhea, a field developed by the Hospital's Physical Therapist. Only such cases in which positive culture or spread shows the unquestioned presence of gonococcus have been treated. In every one of the cases so far treated, one or two applications of hyperthermia has cured the gonorrheal process. Not only has this proved a boon to patients suffering from pelvic gonorrhea, but those unfortunates admitted to the Medical Services, who suffer from joint symptoms, are completely relieved of their disability after one or two treatments.

The Endocrine Research Laboratory has continued to cooperate not only with the Gynecological Service but with other services in the Hospital in the study of the female sex hormone.

During the year a number of publications have appeared from the Service as well as from the Service and the Laboratories. Among these may be mentioned several publications which have also appeared from the Out-Patient Department.

1. Tumors of the Ovary.
2. Estrogenic Substances in the Blood and Urine after Castration and the Menopause.
3. Time Factor of Follicle Stimulation and Luteinization in the Immature Rat.
4. The Menopause: Symptoms, Hormonal Status and Treatment.

5. The Origin, Development and Present Activities of the Gynecological Endocrine Research Division.
6. Lymphogranuloma Venereum; with a report on two cases.
7. Pregnancy after Bilateral Tubal Ligation: Subsequent Hysterotomy and Tubal Excision.
8. Therapeutic Abortion by Means of X-ray.
9. A New and Effective Treatment for Trichomonas Vaginitis.
10. Quantitative Relation between Follicle Stimulating and Luteinizing Effects in Castrate and Menopause Urine.
11. Hormonal Factors Affecting Vaginal Smears in Castrates and After the Menopause.

The following articles have been accepted for publication:

1. Ovarian Tumors and the Diagnosis of Acute Appendicitis.
2. Torsion of Ovarian Tumors.
3. Hematometra.
4. The Lewisohn Citrate Transfusion in the Treatment of Ectopic Gestation.
5. Trauma in Gynecology.
6. "Retrograde" Abdominal Hysterectomy with Avascular Morcellation for Large Fibroids.
7. Effect of Emmenin on Gonadotropic Hormone Excretion in Castrates and Spontaneous Menopause.

OPHTHALMOLOGICAL SERVICE: On the Ophthalmological Service, in addition to the routine operative work, much time has been devoted to plastic surgery. In the Laboratory, the embryological material has been developed. A number of students in the past year have taken the course for the American Board of Ophthalmology. Intensive research is going on concerning the ocular blood vessels.

The following studies are being carried out:

1. Blind Spots in Clinical Ophthalmology.
2. Research in Vernal Catarrh; this is in collaboration with the Departments of Allergy, Chemistry and Physical Therapy.
3. The Pharmacological Effects of Histamine on the Eye.
4. The Blood Supply of the Eye.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

The following papers have been published:

1. Operation for Retention of an Eye after Exenteration of the Orbit.
2. Ocular Manifestations of Nasopharyngeal Malignancies.

ORTHOPEDIC SERVICE: During the past year there has been an increase in the volume of work done by the Orthopedic Service, both in the number of admissions and the consultations requested of the Orthopedic Staff.

Investigation has continued in internal fixation of fractures of the femoral neck and new methods of treating fractures of the long bones. Because of the larger number of children's beds available, it was possible to perform operations that require prolonged post-operative hospitalization. This applied particularly to the surgical treatment of joint tuberculosis and the operative correction of spinal deformities. Considerable attention has been given to the subject of low back pain and the treatment of suitable cases by postural exercises.

The following studies have been published or are in the process of publication:

1. Peroneal Nerve Paralysis following Russell Traction.
2. Posterior Marginal Fractures of the Tibia.
3. The Relation of Dental Infection and Arthritis.
4. Accidents following Manipulation for Sciatic pain.
5. A New Device for the Compression-Fixation of Femoral Neck Fractures.
6. The Corkscrew Bolt in Femoral Neck Fractures.
7. Radio-Ulnar Laxity.
8. Passive Hyperemia in Fractures of the Long Bones.
9. Soft-Tissue Tumors of the Extremities.
10. Source Book of Orthopedics.
11. Tumors of the Nerve Sheath.
12. One Hundred Cases of Poliomyelitis Conservatively Treated.

DEPARTMENT OF RADIOLOGY: The year 1936 showed a marked increase in the number of patients examined and in patients' visits in the Department of Radiology.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

The equipment was made safer by the installation of shock-proofing devices.

Studies have been made on:

1. Cardio-dynamics in Relation to Cardiac Contours.
2. Congenital Polycystic Kidneys.

Studies are proceeding in association with the Departments of Orthopedics and Neurology in reference to the use of lipiodol injections into the spinal canal in low back pain.

DEPARTMENT OF RADIOTHERAPY: There was an increase in the number of new patients referred to the Radiotherapy Department in 1936 over and above the number referred in 1935, viz., 1,196 as against 1,101. This increase was equally divided among patients referred from the ward, semi-private and private pavilions. The increase in the number of referred patients necessitated a greater number of treatments during the year 1936 and this increase was equally divided between superficial and deep Roentgen ray treatments. The number of high frequency and radium treatments remain the same. In addition the choice of treatment was largely dictated by the increased efficiency and flexibility of new apparatus installed during the past year.

Most of the apparatus at this date has been made safe with shock-proof and ray-proof devices. This feature permits development of new techniques in the treatment of our cases and modification of older more or less standardized techniques. In addition there has been a tendency to substitute Roentgen therapy in some cases previously treated by radium because of the increased efficiency and economy of our machines. This change has entailed no sacrifice in the efficacy of treatment in these cases, the effect has rather been enhanced, while the protection of both patient and technician is greater.

Treatment involving heavily filtered Roentgen rays protracted over long periods of time such as the Coutard technique, slightly modified, has been continued, as have other techniques which are standardized. Other routine methods in co-operation with staff members of other departments, especially with the Gynecological Service in the treatment of malignant and benign condition have been continued.

Finally studies originally begun by the Department in previous years have developed to the point where newer concepts of diseases and their treatment have been crystallized. A greater number of benign conditions are now being treated. The most promising results have been achieved in the treatment of bronchiectasis and allied conditions. Studies in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis similarly are promising.

Members of this Department have summarized results of treatment and new concept already referred to in a paper on "Therapy in Bronchiectasis" before a medical convention. The paper was subsequently published in a recent issue of the American Medical Journal. Papers on "Therapeutic Abortion by Roentgen Ray" were also published.

In the preparation of these papers, it was found that a cross-index system of filing is an indispensable feature of this Department and one similar to that used in the Hospital record room has been established.

ISIDORE FREISNER, M.D.,
President, Medical Board.

A Brief and succi financial pi

The cost of operating the Hospital was $1,941,266

These operating costs were exclusive of costs of research, post-graduate medical education and other activities not directly connected with maintenance of the Hospital.

Of this, more than $1,000,000 was used for salaries and wages.

To meet part of these costs patients paid to the Hospital only . . . $ 908,545

The difference is the total philanthropic expense for the year, or $1,032,721

Grants from Federation, the United Hospital Fund and the City, supplied the Hospital with a total of $ 763,593

Income from endowment funds, donations, etc., amounted to . . . $ 77,620

Leaving the Hospital with a final net shortage or deficit of . . . $ 191,508

t statement of the are for 1936

This deficit added to other deficits since the depression years beginning with 1930, has now reached a total of $1,067,268

The large deficits of the past seven years could have been avoided only by curtailing in quantity or quality, or both, the services rendered by the Hospital to the sick poor of the City. Because these services are urgently needed, it has been the policy of the Board of Trustees to maintain them as long as possible, and the deficits have been met out of the limited capital funds of the Hospital.

Such capital funds were expected to provide income for maintenance purposes and the depletion of these funds to keep the Hospital going has correspondingly reduced such income. There is obviously a limit to this constant drain on the Hospital's reserves.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT

The demand for clinic service in 1936 reached a total of 326,000 visits, practically the same high level which was experienced in 1935. The restrictive rules for admissions were maintained in the face of large numbers of applicants beyond our facilities of space, equipment and personnel; this, because the aim has been to maintain a high standard of medical care for our patients, and to admit only as many patients as could be properly cared for. That many patients of limited or no means continue to return to the Hospital over a period of years is testimony of the excellence of the medical service rendered. There was an average daily attendance of more than 150 physicians who served voluntarily. Not only by their medical services, but by kindly words or deeds to the patient, they were important effectors in making the clinic the important instrument of humanitarian endeavor that it is. To them, as well as to the non-professional volunteers who give of their time and efforts with no thought of return, the Chairman of the Out-Patient Committee extends his deep appreciation.

New groups of patients for special study and treatment were organized in 1936. Hypertensive disease patients in the general medical clinic and patients with low-back pain from the Orthopedic Clinic were segregated for special attention. Clinics in corrective exercises, formerly limited to groups of children, were extended to include adult groups. Most of these patients are referred from the Orthopedic Clinic.

Increased use was made of the clinical facilities for advanced educational activities. Post graduate instruction was carried on in many of the clinics in connection with the formal courses of instruction given in affiliation with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University. Instructive and interesting cases from the medical clinics were presented at the departmental monthly medical conferences. In addition, several of the clinics held other conferences regularly which were attended not only by the clinic staff but by outside members of the profession. Such conferences were carried on by the eye, physiotherapy and skin clinics.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT

In the large complex organization of the Out-Patient Department many problems arise in inter-clinic relations and in relation to the in-patient hospital services. To help resolve some of these problems a part of the departmental medical conferences was devoted to discussion of organizational and clinical problems of the Out-Patient Department in which the staff exchanged ideas.

Increased emphasis was placed on the improvement of the clinic records. Long-time cases were reviewed and the charts summarized so that proper disposition of these cases could be made by the clinic chiefs. Advantage was taken of the new photographic service available for recording lesions of clinic patients for inclusion in the clinic chart.

Late in the year changes were begun on the fourth floor of the Out-Patient Department Annex building. These included provision of additional examining cubicles, a routine clinical laboratory, and relocation of a fluoroscope. These renovated quarters will house the cardiac, gastro-intestinal, hematology, allergy and chest clinics.

Reports from the associates in charge of the general medical clinics, which provide care for the largest group of our dispensary patients, mention the high calibre of the medical staff, improvement in the quality of the medical service given and the existence of a fine spirit of cooperation and service.

In the mental health clinic the number of patients who required psychiatric therapy continued to be large. There were increased contacts between the members of this clinic and the referring clinics; notation was made of the psychiatric progress of the patient on the main Out-Patient Department chart for the information of other departments treating the patient.

The metabolism clinic continued to render valuable medical service to a large group of patients. The clinic is divided into morning and afternoon divisions, the former dealing exclusively with diabetes, and the latter, known as the nutrition clinic, with the management of other nutritional problems, such as obesity, malnutrition, endocrine disturbances, etc. An important therapeutic innovation carried on in the diabetic clinic in close cooperation with the hospital ward service was the introduction of a new type of insulin characterized by prolonged action. The product, Protamine Insulin, permits better control of the diabetic state and in addition, the number of injections required per day is limited to one, in all but the exceptional case.

The Physiotherapy Clinic during 1936 acquired additional technical assistance and will soon have modern equipment, replacing the old. Although the number of patients treated has remained at almost the same level, there has been increased emphasis on the individual care of each patient, on the evaluation of therapy by means of physical agents in the various diseases, and on the development of closer contacts with the other clinics of the Out-Patient Department.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNST ROSENFELD,

Chairman, Committee on Out-Patient Department.

REPORT OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL SCHOOL OF NURSING

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL:
Gentleman:

The aim of the School of Nursing is to accept well-selected applicants and then to provide them with an educational program which will direct and stimulate their growth as individuals and as professional nurses.

On January 1st, 1937, our student enrollment included the following:

Preliminary students	54
First year students	32
Second year students	76
Third year students	66
Total	<hr/> 228

There were 203 full-time graduate nurses on our staff, participating in administration, supervision, teaching and nursing care of patients.

The total expenditures for the School and Nursing Department for the year 1936 amounted to $261,658.01, exclusive of food, laundry and maintenance of building.

During the past year over four thousand letters inquiring for information about the School and applications for admission were received, from which a group of 110 applicants were selected for admission. Of this number 86 remain in the School. There has been a definite reduction in the elimination rate, and we attribute this to a better selection method, which includes the psychometric tests advocated by the State Education Department. Our records show that there is a close correlation between the results of these tests and the reports of the students after they enter the School.

The students who completed the preliminary term in July received the new uniform of the School. It was deemed advisable to change the gathered apron to a gored one, and a bib and stiff collar replaced the kerchief.

The health service has, as usual, carried on a systematic program for safe-guarding the health of the students. Our health index has increased due, undoubtedly, to more careful selection of students, as well as supervision and cooperation in carrying out health measures. In 1936 there was 1.9 per cent illness time to total days of nursing in our student group. The annual physical examination and chest X-ray now includes the graduates as well as the students.

The physical education program, which has for its objective health and happiness of the student, has functioned effectively under the direction of Miss Crozier. This program places emphasis on recreation and has therefore included many games and sports, besides giving consideration to rhythmic and relaxing exercises, posture and corrective work.

The outstanding social event of the year was class day, featuring the play produced by the graduating class. Under the direction of the Social Committee of the Student Association and faculty advisers, many parties and dances have been held in our residence. We are grateful for the capable assistance given us by Miss Wood and her staff of dietitians at these functions.

The program of staff education has been maintained throughout the year. This program has considered the professional and cultural growth of the individual, as well as her technical skill and ability. Twelve of our supervisors, instructors and head nurses are continuing to take courses at Teachers College, Columbia University. Several of these nurses have almost completed the required courses for their degrees in nursing education. The knowledge derived from their studies has been most helpful in a better understanding and fulfillment of their duties.

There have been some changes in our senior faculty positions. Miss Margaret Lundy, Night Supervisor, resigned on March 1st. We were fortunate to have our Medical Supervisor, Miss Ruth Goebel, available and well-qualified to fill this vacancy. Miss Clare Skaling, first assistant Instructor in Nursing Arts, was appointed Medical Supervisor. Miss Bessie Wolfson, second assistant Instructor in Nursing Arts, was advanced to first assistant, and Miss Nell Ballenger was appointed to the vacancy created by Miss Wolfson's promotion. These nurses are graduates of our School.

On May 15th, Miss Katherine Leach, a graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing, New York City, was appointed to fill the vacancy of Operating Room Supervisor, caused by the resignation of Miss Nell Porter. Miss Leach has had excellent experience in supervision and teaching of operating room technique.

During the past year we have made a careful study of the proposed curriculum of the National League of Nursing Education, with a view of adopting those suggestions which seemed suitable for our School. After carefully reviewing our curriculum we decided to make revisions in our program of studies; new outlines of courses have been prepared, more emphasis has been placed on the social and preventive aspects of nursing, and the total teaching hours have been slightly increased.

There has been a greater demand on the nursing services due to the increased number of hospital beds. It has been our desire, as always, to give our patients a superior quality of nursing care. However, many obstacles have been encountered due to the difficulty in securing graduate nurses for general staff duty. Although we advanced the salary level, we had many resignations in this group. We are happy to report that many of the general staff nurses were appointed to more responsible positions.

The Alumnae Association, now numbering 746 members, continues to be very active and concerned with the welfare of each member. The Association has also been interested in keeping the members informed of important changes and progress in the nursing profession.

On behalf of the staff and students of the School I wish to express the gratitude of the Board to the physicians of the School and Hospital for giving so skillfully and untiringly of their service.

The report of the nurses' registry shows that there was a daily average of 45 graduates on our call list, although the total number registered for private duty was 429. During the year, 7,859 calls were received, which is an increase of 1,231 calls over the previous year. The latter part of the year we received many calls requesting special nurses which we were unable to fill.

In January of 1937 Mr. Carl H. Pforzheimer, Jr., accepted our invitation to join the School of Nursing Board.

REPORT OF SCHOOL OF NURSING

The Board takes pleasure in extending its appreciation to the Director of the Hospital, Dr. Joseph Turner, for his counsel and helpful assistance given us at all times.

The progress we have made in our School during the past year is due to the able leadership of the Principal, Miss Grace A. Warman, and to the conscientious work, cooperation and loyalty of the faculty and graduate staff. The Board wishes to express to them its heartfelt thanks and deep appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

HUGO BLUMENTHAL,

*President of The Mount Sinai Hospital

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL:
Gentlemen:

Every year when it becomes necessary to present in statistical form the work done by the department, we regret that we have no other means of measuring the department's accomplishments. Figures suggest, but cannot show clearly the distress we have been able to alleviate, nor the part we have been privileged to play in the care of the patients of the Hospital and the Out-Patient Department.

The following table is a statement of the work accomplished in 1936 as compared with the volume of work in 1935:

CASES	1936	1935
New cases	9,045	7,652
Reopened	1,132	988
Closed	9,663	8,794
MINOR SERVICES	28,925	24,058
INDEX OF EFFORT
Interviews—in Hospital	195,177	168,206
Interviews—outside Hospital	14,627	14,621
Patients sent for convalescence.....	1,710	1,643
*Patients sent in summer only.....	642	635
Reports sent to social agencies.....	9,360	8,462
Referred to social agencies.....	5,119	5,254

The above table shows that there has been an increase in our case load as well as in the services given to patients with the exception that in 1936 fewer patients were referred to social agencies. The staff explains this by the fact that many of our patients were already known to one social agency or another, especially to the Home Relief Bureau.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS—The effects of the depression and the toll it has taken on the morale and health resistance of the people has not yet been fully dissipated. It may be of interest to consider briefly the make-up of our clientele during the part year. Some, who are still on relief, have become so maladjusted or so apathetic that great effort and understanding are necessary to bring them back to the point where they can seek and accept work as it becomes available. The Home Relief Bureau dealing, as it must, with relief en masse has little time to meet these psychic needs, or to attempt to seek a remedy for the physical, mental or economic causes which have been devastating certain families. When these people come as patients to the Hospital or clinics we have had to work more intensively in order to assist the doctor to restore them to health and to guide them back to a normal existence.

* Children, 532.
Adults, 110.

Another group is composed of families where the wage earner had just returned to work but with income not yet sufficient to provide for such necessary replacements as clothing, household articles or medical appliances. They require help in becoming adjusted to their recovered independence, and some financial assistance in bridging the gap.

A third group was made up of those who had managed to get along up to this time without relief, but had now reached the end of their resources, physically and financially. There were also the employed group who never have been and probably never will be able to budget their expenditures to cover periods of ordinary illness unless they can be covered by some form of insurance.

Last but not least come the salaried professional and clerical groups who have struggled desperately to maintain themselves and their immediate families, and who are often obliged to assist unemployed members of their larger family group. This type of individual is encountered more and more frequently on our wards, and must have recourse to skilled case work service if he is to be helped through his period of disability with his morale intact.

The problems remain complicated, and requests for material relief continue. Many of our patients need warm clothing, shoes, household supplies, and other aids to health, not in many instances obtainable elsewhere. More patients had to be sent to convalescent homes, as their own home conditions were such that home convalescence was impossible.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

EXPANSION, SOCIAL WORKERS—We were able during the year to enlarge our staff by a second case supervisor, two additional social workers, and two secretaries. As case supervisor we obtained Miss Louise Ewer, who is spending most of her time at present with the Out-Patient Department workers, particularly in the adult division. One worker was added to the A. M. Medical Clinics, dividing her time between the Adult Asthma, Gastro-Intestinal, and Chest Clinics. Through placing a second full time social worker in the A. M. Medical Clinic we were able to increase our services to the Eye Clinic by giving it a full time worker. It is to be regretted that most of her time is occupied with arrangements for refractions and glasses, leaving very little time for other social problems.

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY—Other services under our supervision have also grown, and additions to the staff permitted us to expand to some degree. Occupational Therapy was introduced on the Adult Wards in April. Miss Marguerite Emery, who has been in charge of the Occupational Therapy work in connection with the Mental Health Class organized this work on the Adult Wards. It was so well received by the physicians and patients, and the demands for this service became so great that a part time assistant was added, and we hope that in the near future, this worker will be able to give her entire time.

KINDERGARTNER—For sometime it was felt that the kindergarten who came every afternoon should be on hand all day. This was made possible during the year, and it is such a success that we are more than gratified. Miss Sylvia Hess has kept all the children occupied, and she has been able to help the older children with their school work.

CORRECTIVE EXERCISE CLASS—A Corrective Exercise Class for adults, who have back pains due to various conditions, was begun in the fall and has proven valuable. It is directed by the instructor who has the children's class in the Orthopedic Clinics.

SUMMER HEALTH PROGRAM—Continuing along the line developed in previous years, the summer health work during 1936 progressed very smoothly. As in the past, specific emphasis was placed on physical defects found in the children presenting themselves for examination. Every available facility was used to correct the defects as soon as was possible. The dental situation, which in the past years has been a difficult one to meet because the dental facilities in the Hospital were taxed to capacity, and other dental facilities in the community were inadequate, was helped by providing additional dental services with the aid of extra funds.

More children were sent away for four weeks or longer this summer than in previous years, and we found them greatly benefited by the longer period of care. To accomplish this, we were able to arrange with the Convalescent Home for Hebrew Children in Far Rockaway to take over 100 children for four-week periods. We were very pleased with the outcome of this arrangement. Through the generosity of Mrs. Max J. Breitenbach we were able to send 87 mothers and 129 children to the United Vacation Home at Long Branch, where they occupied the Max J. Breitenbach Cottage. Again we felt the lack of available vacancies for Negro and Porto Rican children.

WORKSHOP—The Workshop continues its usefulness to many of our patients. The small space available to this activity does not permit us to take as many people as the workers would like to refer. Nevertheless, we had about 40 new patients. Those who drop out usually have obtained jobs in private industry, and are replaced immediately by those on the long waiting list. For one month during the summer a group of young high school girls were taught to sew, and helped to make summer dresses.

MEDICAL FOLLOW-UP—The Medical Follow-up Department, which had been under the supervision of social service since its inception, was taken over by the administration late in April.

CHANGES IN ESTABLISHED WORK—Since 1935 we have had a worker assigned to the Gynecological Service. We have therefore been able to follow up all cases of gonorrhea and to make home investigations on all children suffering from gonorrheal vaginitis. Since the establishment of a Bureau of Hygiene by the Department of Health a few months ago, we have been more successful in bringing back delinquent patients suffering from venereal diseases. An increasing number of patients from the Genito-Urinary Service has been referred to the workers assigned to the Luetic Clinic. These same workers are also noticing a considerable increase in the cases referred from the Skin Clinic, which often present very complicated medical and psychological problems.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

In September the Home Relief Bureau established several stations for eye refraction for its clientele over twenty-one years of age, also making provision for glasses as prescribed. All Home Relief Bureau clients, therefore, for whom our clinic recommends refraction are referred to one of the Home Relief Bureau stations. The number of patients so referred has been small, since nearly all our refractions were for diagnostic purposes, and of value in the treatment of the patient in other clinics, or in emergent situations. School children have recently become eligible for glasses through the Home Relief Bureau but must be refracted in our clinics.

The use of a new type of insulin called "protamine insulin" is making more demands on the social worker in the Diabetic Clinic. It is fortunate that we now have a full time social worker in that clinic who can give this group of selected patients intensive supervision as to the administration of the insulin, adherence to diet, and interpretation of the doctor's recommendations. The worker in the Diabetic Clinic has also assisted one of the doctors in some of his research work by tracing members of families where the hereditary factor is suspected, and inducing them to submit to medical examination.

The Mental Health Class Club moved to the Central Jewish Institute where, for a very small fee, it is housed comfortably, and continues to be a valuable adjunct to the class.

The Adult Cardiac Clinic has had fewer neighborhood patients. This has made home visiting more time-consuming because of the longer distances travelled.

The Housekeeping Service of the Jewish Social Service Association has expanded considerably during the past year, and we have made good use of this service with very satisfactory results. The newly developed Housekeeping Project of the Works Progress Administration has also supplied us with housekeepers both in chronic and temporary illness situations. The provisions for home care for chronic invalids made by the Home Relief Bureau for its clients, including physician, nurse, medication and housekeeping service are giving great relief and comfort to a number of patients.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

One temporary shelter for older children was closed during the year, and while increased availability of housekeepers has undoubtedly relieved the resulting situation, there is no doubt but that we shall miss the shelter for those cases in which a housekeeper cannot meet the need. There have already been a few instances where we were obliged to send children to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children Shelter for temporary care, because it was impossible to make any other provision for them.

SOCIAL SERVICE AUXILIARY—Mrs. Leonard A. Cohn was made Chairman of Occupational Therapy, and has given unstintingly of her time and energy to develop this work. This is the first time that we have had occupational therapy on the wards, and it is due to Mrs. Cohn's efforts that this new undertaking has met with so much success. Mrs. Edwin M. Berolzheimer, who had been a member of our Board for many years, resigned much to our regret. Mrs. William De Young Kay, who joined our Board during the year, has been appointed chairman of the patients' library. Now that we have more adequate space, we hope to enlarge this service during the coming year. We are also pleased to announce that Mrs. David M. Levy, who had been a member of our Auxiliary heretofore has rejoined our Board.

FEDERATION AND UNITED HOSPITAL FUND—The Federation of Jewish Philanthropic Societies and the United Hospital Fund have provided us with a part of the funds necessary to carry on our work, and we are grateful for their support. We have most actively cooperated with them in the drives which took place last Fall.

VOLUNTEERS—An average of ninety volunteers served in the Hospital during 1936, many of whom had been with us over a long period of time. In addition to their many activities already reported on in the past, a number of them gave valuable assistance in new projects, particularly in the field of research. A group of volunteers were trained as guides to show visitors by appointment through the Hospital. In addition to the tea which is given annually to the volunteers, Mrs. Frank L. Weil, Chairman of the Volunteer Committee, held three group meetings, giving the volunteers an opportunity to discuss problems in connection with their work.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

NEED FOR ADDITIONAL STAFF—The service in the Radiotherapy Clinic is increasing steadily. Occupational Therapy has gained such a hold that another part time worker will be needed presently. Some departments have no social worker; they are the Neurological Wards and Clinic, and the Thyroid, Hematology, Chest, Arthritis, Ear, Nose and Throat, Surgical, Physiotherapy, Dental and Genito-Urinary Clinics. At present we are trying to meet the most urgent situations in these clinics, but in order to cover the needs adequately we need more workers. A secretary and a filing clerk are needed now, and additional clerical assistance will be required with an increased staff. The Children's Social Service is also in need of a receptionist and filing clerk.

During the last few years our educational work with a part time educational director has been limited mainly to the newly appointed staff members, with the result that our other needs have never been touched. We have been approached from various sources to take students for field work practice. The student nurses' period of observation in the Social Service Department should be linked up with a more adequate presentation of theory. In addition to this, a series of conferences should be developed for the interns. Our volunteers also are ready for some systematic training. Much of this desirable program can be accomplished only if we have at least one full time educational director on our staff.

NEEDS FOR RESOURCES—The lack of adequate facilities for sufferers from chronic diseases continues to be one of our chief problems. We can only stress this need over and over again in the hope that more adequate institutional provision will be made.

Free convalescent facilities are still inadequate for many patients. To repeat, as we have done for so many years, there is a deplorable lack of convalescent provision for men, both adolescent youth, and older men, diet and arthritis cases, Negro and Puerto Rican patients. Another "forgotten man" in the field of convalescence is the patient suffering from mild nervous ailments.

Our poorest clients frequently have difficulty in arranging for proper burial. There is a great need for some provision especially for the non-Jewish clients, which will satisfy their insistence on decent provision for their departed. For families without insurance or church connection, city burial is unavoidable, and there remains a great feeling of despair at this prospect.

We would not be satisfied to omit from this report some remarks on the increasingly vital subject of housing, and the almost emergent need for improvement. In spite of widespread interest, frequent meetings, and the very real efforts of the present city administration, the shortage in decent, low cost housing in this city presents a sinister problem. Many families are still living in old-law tenements not yet improved, and even in condemned buildings still standing. Improvements mean increased rentals beyond the ability of our families to pay.

CONCLUSION—Working relationships with other social agencies in the community continue satisfactory, and we try constantly to promote mutual understanding and co-operative planning with the Home Relief Bureau staff which is the only support of so many of our patients.

We are grateful to our many kind friends who have sent us donations of clothing, books and other articles much appreciated by our patients.

We treasure most the unsolicited letters and expressions of gratitude which come from our patients. The following excerpt of a letter which was received from the wife of one of our patients who was on the Second Medical Service is an example of the many letters we receive.

“My husband wants me to convey to you his deep gratitude and appreciation for the treatment accorded him through your Department. You extended the helping hand when he needed it most, and did it in such a lovely way that he wasn’t embarrassed or made to feel a charity case—something which to a sensitive soul means much. You are doing a fine and noble work, for to my mind, it is just as important for a patient to be relieved of financial worry and mental suffering as to be relieved of his physical suffering. You may rest assured that when my husband gets on his feet again he will not be unmindful of his obligations”

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

We would like to mention here the list of those who have addressed the student nurses, and to whom we are greatly indebted for their interest: Miss Matilda Dreifus, Mrs. Elsa Butler Grove, Miss Louise C. Odencrantz, Mr. Edward Hochhauser, Mrs. Rachel M. Israel, Judge Jonah J. Goldstein, Mrs. Marguerite Benson, Mrs. Carol K. Nash, Mrs. Adelene Eckes, Mrs. Pauline Leplin, and Miss Adele Glogau.

No report would be complete without an expression of appreciation to the Board of Trustees of the Hospital and to Dr. Turner and his assistants. Mrs. Mendelsohn and her staff have bent every effort in helping our patients, frequently under very trying conditions.

The members of the Board of the Social Service Auxiliary have shown that same interest in the furtherance of our work as in previous years, and I deeply regret that I cannot give individual recognition to all those who through their personal efforts and financial assistance have contributed to the accomplishments of the Department.

Respectfully submitted,

RUTH M. COOK,

President of the Social Service Auxiliary.

OFFICERS

MRS. LEOPOLD BERNHEIMER	PRESIDENT
MRS. OSCAR ROSE	TREASURER
MRS. JOSEPH A. ARNOLD	SECRETARY

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL:
Gentlemen:

I am glad to be able to come before you again with a very satisfactory report of our activities for the past year.

The year was one in which the enthusiasm of our Ladies saw no abatement. Their eager attendance at the Hospital on the appointed days indicated untiring interest and the results were most gratifying. Dressings and more dressings came from their busy hands. I am sure that 1937 will find us all together, still energetic, still carrying on.

It is a pleasure at this time to acknowledge receipt of the letter from the Board of Trustees of The Mount Sinai Hospital, acknowledging our help and expressing its appreciation of our interest in this work.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. LEOPOLD BERNHEIMER,
President.

Extracts from the Constitution on Endowed Beds and Endowments

- A Contribution of $2,500 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Life Bed. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the general wards of the main Hospital, free of charge.
- A Contribution of $3,500 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Memorial Bed. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the main Hospital, free of charge. Such donor may bequeath that right to a successor appointed by the said donor in his or her last will and testament, or by any other instrument under seal. In the event of such successor being appointed, the rights hereinbefore mentioned shall continue for a period of not over fifty years from the date of such contribution—such period, however, not to end before ten years from the death of the donor.
- A Contribution of $5,000 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Perpetual Bed in the Children's Pavilion. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the wards of the Children's Pavilion, free of charge. Such donor may bequeath that right to a successor appointed by said donor in his or her last will and testament or by any other instrument under seal.
- A Contribution of $7,500 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Perpetual Bed, but where, under the provision of any will executed prior to March 20, 1921, the sum of $5,000 or more is bequeathed to the Hospital in payment of any Perpetual Bed, the Board of Trustees may, at their option, accept such sum in payment of such Perpetual Bed. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the general wards of the main Hospital, free of charge. Such donor may bequeath that right to a successor appointed by said donor in his or her last will and testament, or by any other instrument under seal.
- When a corporation is the donor, the privilege shall expire at the end of twenty-five years from the date of such contribution.
- Tablets to commemorate the endowment of Life and Memorial Beds shall be placed in designated areas, subject to the rules of the Hospital. Tablets for Life Beds shall be maintained during the life of the donor, tablets for Memorial Beds for a period not beyond fifty years from the date of their endowment, such period, however, not to end before ten years from the death of the donor. The endowment of a Perpetual Bed shall entitle the donor, or his legal representative, to have a tablet placed in the ward selected by him, or by them, or to have the endowment recorded on a tablet provided for that purpose in the corridor of the Hospital; such tablets shall be maintained in perpetuity.
- A donor may change a Life Bed endowed by him or her to a Memorial Bed by making an additional contribution of $1,000, or to a Perpetual Bed by making an additional contribution of $5,000, or may change a Memorial Bed to a Perpetual Bed by making an additional contribution of $4,000.
- No patient shall occupy a Life, Memorial or Perpetual Bed unless he shall comply with the current rules of the Hospital and be a proper subject for treatment according to its regulations.
- An endowment for the establishing of any special fund may be accepted by a resolution of the Board of Trustees. Such fund may be created either for a special purpose, in which event the income therefrom shall be devoted to such purpose only, or under the name of one or more persons, in which event the income therefrom shall be devoted to the general purposes of the Hospital. Such endowment funds shall be kept by the Treasurer as special accounts. Contributions to existing funds may be made at any time, but no funds shall be created with an initial endowment of less than Ten Thousand Dollars.

HISTORICAL NOTE

The Mount Sinai Hospital was organized and incorporated in 1852 for "benevolent, charitable and scientific purposes." The work of the Hospital was begun in a small private dwelling on 28th Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, which accommodated 28 patients. The Hospital now has accommodations for 857 patients, including 18 beds in the receiving ward.

In 1871 the Hospital completed and occupied, at Lexington Avenue, 66th and 67th Streets, a building having a capacity of 200 beds.

The Dispensary, now known as the Out-Patient Department, was inaugurated in 1872.

The clinical departments first organized were those of medicine and surgery; a gynecologist was appointed in 1877.

Mount Sinai created precedents among the hospitals of New York by setting up a distinct pediatric service in 1878 and an otologic service in 1879; the latter was at first combined with, but in 1910 was separated from, ophthalmology and laryngology.

The Mount Sinai Training School for Nurses, in affiliation with the Hospital, was incorporated in March, 1881; the name of the school was changed in 1923 to The Mount Sinai Hospital School of Nursing.

In 1883 a committee was formed to develop a Medical Library.

In 1886 a district medical service was inaugurated.

Provision for the care of private patients was first made in 1886; an intermediate or "semi-private" ward was opened in 1904.

In 1893 a Pathological Department was established, and consultants in dermatology and neurology were appointed.

The corner stone of the group of ten hospital buildings occupying the block bounded by Fifth and Madison Avenues, 100th and 101st Streets, was laid May 22nd, 1901; the buildings were completed and occupied March 15th, 1904, when 500 beds became available for the care of the sick.

HISTORICAL NOTE

A Department of Dietetics was established in 1905.

A Social Service Department was inaugurated in 1906.

A Tuberculosis Clinic was organized in 1908.

The first of a series of "Fellowship" funds was created in 1908 to assist investigators engaged in scientific medical work.

The Hospital's first X-ray machine was installed in 1900. In 1910 a full-fledged Department of Radiology was formed and in 1924 the department was subdivided into separate branches for (a) radiography and (b) X-ray and radium therapy.

In 1910 the three-story Out-Patient Building, which had been completed in 1904 was altered to a five-story building, and the Nurses' Home was enlarged from a six-story to an eight-story building. At the same time new isolation wards were erected on the roof of the Medical Building.

A Dental Department was established for the benefit of in-patients in 1910; this work was extended to the Out-Patient Department in 1925.

An orthopedic surgeon and a physio-therapist were named in 1911.

Roof wards for outdoor treatment were erected on the Medical and Surgical Pavilions in 1912.

The Hospital in 1912 accepted a fund "for the advancement of preventive medicine." A "health class" for children was promptly established.

In 1913 the erection of seven additional buildings south of 100th Street was begun; four of these buildings were occupied in 1915, and three, namely, the Private Pavilion, the Children's Pavilion and the Auditorium, were completed in the spring of 1922. With these additions, the Hospital was able to care for 654 patients.

The first of a series of lectureship funds was established in 1913. These funds provided honoraria for distinguished visiting lecturers.

Electro-cardiography was instituted in 1915.

HISTORICAL NOTE

In 1917, Mount Sinai Hospital became a constituent member of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies, which was organized in that year.

Until 1917, tonsillectomies were performed in the Dispensary, often without anesthesia; in the year mentioned, a "tonsil and adenoid" ward, with a fully equipped operating room, was opened.

A Mount Sinai Hospital Unit, organized as a section of the Medical Department of the United States Army, was sent to France in 1918.

Post-Graduate medical instruction was formally organized in 1923, in affiliation with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University.

A permanent fund for the support of medical research was inaugurated in 1925, prior to which research was precariously supported by occasional donations.

The construction of a new school and residence building for the School of Nursing, fronting on 98th Street, between Fifth and Madison Avenues, was begun in 1925 and completed in 1927; the residence accommodates 490 nurses.

The new Semi-Private Pavilion for the care of patients of moderate means was completed and opened to the public in 1931.

Group or cooperative special nursing was introduced for the first time in 1931.

A Consultation Service for ambulant out-patients of moderate means was organized in 1931.

Neuro-surgery was included in General Surgery until 1932, when a separate service was created.

The modernization of the Out-Patient Department Building was completed in 1933.

New facilities for Cystoscopy were built and occupied in 1933.

In 1934, the vacant former laboratory on 101st Street, was renovated and restored to use, providing space for a number of exiled German scientists and others.

HISTORICAL NOTE

Renovation and modernization of the Medical and Surgical Pavilions, part of the group of 10 buildings built in 1901, was begun in 1935 and completed in 1936.

The Isolation Ward was rebuilt in 1936 and, with the approval of the Department of Health, became the first Isolation Unit in New York City to be made available for use of private patients.

The Clinical Photographic Department, on a volunteer basis for more than a score of years, was established on a full time basis in 1936.

The Research Foundation of The Mount Sinai Hospital was incorporated in 1936 "to conduct, promote, encourage, and assist investigation in the services and arts of hygiene, medicine, and surgery and allied subjects."

Renovation of the Administration Building—after more than 30 years of use—was undertaken in 1937, providing enlarged facilities for Physiotherapy, Hydrotherapy, Occupational Therapy, Dentistry and other services.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

During the year 1937, the building program decided upon in 1928 has been completed, with the exception of the changes in the large operating room which are still under consideration.

Through changes in the Administration Building, new and much improved facilities were created for Hydrotherapy, Physiotherapy, Occupational Therapy, Dental, Electrocardiograph and Basal Metabolism Departments—the Synagogue and Lecture Room were joined together into one room and are arranged so that they can be used for either or both purposes—a part of the Ladies' Auxiliary room was detached therefrom and is now used as a rest room for women—an additional Cancer Research Laboratory was installed on the first floor of the Laboratory Annex—a Central Radio Antenna system was installed in the Employees' Dormitory and additional space for recreational rooms was provided in this building.

In connection with the Social Service workroom, a show case was installed on the main floor of the Private Pavilion to display and offer for sale articles made by the patients in the workroom. This department is under the management of Miss Edith Sachs, whose splendid achievement has been recognized in a resolution passed by the Board of Trustees last November.

The Special Nursing Service in the Private Pavilion continued on the optional basis of eight and twelve hours. The eight hour service was made use of to the extent of 11% compared with 5% in 1936 and 2% in 1935.

The number of patients treated in the Hospital in 1937 was 16,348 against 15,205 in 1936. In the Private Pavilion there were 2,401 patients against 2,117 patients in 1936 and in the Semi-Private Pavilion 2,549 against 2,287. The total number of Hospital days' care rendered in 1937 was 228,744 establishing a new record.

In the Out-Patient Department, there were 327,068 consultations in 1937 against 326,754 in 1936. There was an average daily attendance of 163 physicians in this department.

The number of patients admitted to Consultation Service in 1937 was 2,658 compared to 2,226 in 1936. The demand for this service seems to continue to grow and we have nearly reached the limit of cases which can be taken care of with the facilities on hand.

Under the arrangement with the Associated Hospital Service of New York 770 patients with 10,302 days' care were admitted during the year in the Private and Semi-Private Pavilions.

The Post Graduate Classes were attended by 193 students and the average attendance in the Clinical Pathological Conferences was 360, exceeding all previous records.

The circulation of the Journal of The Mount Sinai Hospital, edited by Dr. Joseph H. Globus, shows an increase in circulation of about 10% over the previous year.

Salaries and wages were increased during the year 1937 by $97,000, bringing the total increase for the years 1934 to 1937 to $172,000.

The expenditures for current purposes of the Hospital including the School of Nursing, the Social Service Department and the Ladies' Auxiliary in 1937 amounted to.....	$2,295,183.58
Receipts applicable to current expenditures were.....	2,112,489.04
Leaving a net deficit of.....	$ 182,694.54

Included in the Receipts are the following items:

Lectures were given during the year in the Hospital by Professor Saul Adler, Sir Henry H. Dale (William Henry Welch Lectures), Dr. David Nachmansohn, Dr. Gustav Nylin, Professor I. Snapper, Dr. Russel M. Wilder, and a colloquium was held by Professor O. Meyerhof of Heidelberg.

We participated in the tenth annual Graduate Fortnight of the New York Academy of Medicine and members of the staff contributed numerous clinics and lectures on the subject of "Medical and Surgical Disorders of the Urinary Tract."

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

For twenty-five years' loyal and efficient service to the Hospital, Joseph D. Borgman and Edward Lowenstein were presented with gold medals and gifts.

Death has made very heavy inroads on our Medical Staff this year. We record with deep regret the demise of:

Dr. Hermann Goldenberg—Consulting Dermatologist, connected with the Hospital since 1890.

Dr. Isadore Goldstein—Ophthalmic Surgeon, connected with the Hospital since 1924.

Dr. Louis Gross—Director of Laboratories, connected with the Hospital since 1925.

They all have rendered devoted and most valuable service to the Institution for long periods and have been for many years an inspiration to the younger doctors of our staff. Copies of resolutions passed in connection with their death form part of this report.

We also deeply regret the demise of Dr. Francis W. O'Connor, who acted as Consultant for Tropical Diseases since 1931. His services were always at the disposal of the Hospital and they were most beneficial to the patients suffering from diseases in this classification.

We lost through death our fellow Trustee, Ernst Rosenfeld. He was one of the most indefatigable workers and one of the most generous supporters this Institution has ever had and his loss is deeply felt. Resolutions passed on the occasion of his death appear in this report.

The administration of the Laboratories has been placed in the hands of a committee consisting of Drs. Friesner, Frank and Turner.

Prolonged absences made it necessary for Mr. Albert Forsch to resign as Second Vice-President after having served in that capacity for about ten years, but fortunately Mr. Forsch will remain a member of the Board of Trustees.

Mr. Waldemar Kops was elected Second Vice-President to succeed Mr. Forsch, and Mr. Leo Gottlieb took the place of Mr. Kops as Third Vice-President.

Mr. Edward A. Norman was elected a member of the Board of Trustees.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Owing to other activities in the field of philanthropy and social work, Mrs. George Backer, Trustee since 1933, resigned from our Board. Mrs. Backer during the years of her connection with the Institution showed great understanding and interest and we are glad to know that we may continue to count on her hearty cooperation.

Their co-Trustees presented gold medals to Leo Arnstein, Hugo Blumenthal and James Speyer in recognition of 35 years' loyal and devoted service.

Dr. Robert T. Frank, Gynecologist to the Hospital, and Dr. Richard Lewisohn, Surgeon to the Hospital, having reached the age limit, gave up their positions after respectively 23 and 21 years of service. The services of Drs. Frank and Lewisohn were of far-reaching influence because they not only gave splendid service to the patients but they also were most helpful in the education of the younger men of the staff and also did important research work and made valuable contributions to medical science and literature. Dr. Frank was appointed Consulting Gynecologist and Dr. Lewisohn Consulting Surgeon to the Hospital.

To accept a higher executive position, Dr. Stephen Manheimer resigned as Assistant Director and Dr. Mayer A. Green was appointed Assistant Director.

The following changes have taken place in our Medical Staff:

RESIGNATIONS

Dr. Abraham J. Beller.....	Associate Surgeon
Dr. P. Goolker.....	Adjunct Neurologist

Mrs. Kurt Simon has again generously provided for the horses needed by Dr. Shwartzman in his work.

We acknowledge with deepfelt gratitude these expressions of generous interest in our Institution. They facilitate the carrying on of our work, but we must appeal for even considerably larger gifts because the financial situation of the Hospital is one which gives the Trustees a great deal of concern. The deficit of 1937 added to the deficits of the three previous years makes a total deficit of over $800,000. Unfortunately the Hospital's funds available to cover deficits are so slim that, unless a more nearly balanced budget can be established before long, the Trustees may be compelled to curtail the Hospital's activities, an eventuality which they earnestly trust may be avoided. They hope that the movement to create the Greater New York Fund which has now taken positive form may succeed to such an extent that the Hospital will obtain thereby that monetary assistance which is so urgently needed.

From the Estate of Edward J. King additional amounts were received which bring the total of the Edward J. and Jennie I. King Memorial Fund to.....$1,417,686.00

From the Estate of Marco Fleishman we received on account of his bequest to the Hospital.....$705,365.00

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Conditions and requests are attached to these two bequests which make them at this time unavailable for the general purposes of the Hospital.

We wish to express our thanks to the managers of Federation and of the United Hospital Fund for the splendid achievement of their campaigns under most difficult conditions—to the doctors of our Medical and Surgical Staff for their indefatigable efforts for the care of our patients in the wards and clinics and to the Administrative and Nursing Staff for their most devoted and highly effective service.

We also desire to give expression of our appreciation to Mayor LaGuardia, to the Board of Estimate and to the City Departments for their continued friendly cooperation; to Mrs. Alfred A. Cook and her Associates on the Social Service Department; Mr. Hugo Blumenthal, President of the Board of Directors of the School of Nursing; Mrs. Leopold Bernheimer, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and her Associates for their continued and increasingly efficient services.

We also wish to mention here that in the 1937 United Hospital Fund Drive the Mount Sinai Social Service Auxiliary was awarded the $1,000 prize for securing the largest number of individual contributions.

I have had the great honor of being President of Mount Sinai Hospital for over 26 years. When I took office the Institution stood in the front rank of New York's hospitals and it became my duty to keep it there. I believe I can unreservedly say that, owing to the wholehearted cooperation of the Board of Trustees and of the Medical Board, this has been accomplished. Mount Sinai Hospital offers today a safe haven to the sick who seek its services and is making worthwhile contributions to the science of medicine. In transferring the manifold duties and grave responsibilities to my successor, I extend to him my heartiest good wishes in his task and I express the conviction that under his guidance, which will be based on many decades of experience, Mount Sinai will continue to hold that enviable place which it has achieved under the leadership of my predecessors and which I have tried to maintain.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE BLUMENTHAL,

President.

RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEATH OF MR. ERNST ROSENFELD

With feelings of deepest sorrow and real regret, the Board of Trustees of The Mount Sinai Hospital has learned of the death of its beloved colleague, Ernst Rosenfeld. He served on the Board for over sixteen years and had shown himself as one of the most ardent workers for the Hospital; his untiring efforts have done much to advance its interests. He headed many of the most important Committees of the Board, was indefatigable in his devotion, and gave unstintingly of himself.

His generous financial support made possible many activities which would otherwise have been impossible of accomplishment. His outstanding work and his wise counsel will be sadly missed by the Board.

To his widow who shared in his interest and benefactions to the Hospital, the Board extends its most heartfelt sympathy, and at a special meeting held on June 13th, 1937, it was resolved to send her an engrossed copy of these sentiments, and to order the flag of the Hospital to be flown at half mast until after the funeral.

ARTHUR H. HARLOW,
Secretary

LEO ARNSTEIN,
Acting President

May we add to the resolution of The Mount Sinai Hospital our deep appreciation for the active interest taken by our beloved friend and fellow-director, Ernst Rosenfeld, in the work of The Mount Sinai Hospital School of Nursing for the past twelve years.

We will miss his splendid service, helpful assistance and encouraging personality.

HUGO BLUMENTHAL,
President

EDWIN M. BEROLZHEIMER,
Secretary

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF HERMANN GOLDENBERG, M.D.

The Board of Trustees of The Mount Sinai Hospital has learned with deep regret of the passing away of Dr. Hermann Goldenberg who, for more than thirty-seven years, has been connected with this Institution and has during that period faithfully served its patients in various capacities as a member of the medical staff. He filled the position of Dermatologist to the Hospital for many years and at the time of his death was Consulting Dermatologist.

Dr. Goldenberg was a true lover of humanity and ministered to the sick not only with great professional skill but with kindness and sympathy. He was greatly respected by his colleagues both for his medical attainments and for his great sincerity and was beloved of his patients for the deep interest that he took in their welfare.

His splendid character and his qualities of mind endeared him to all who had the privilege of knowing him.

To the members of his family the Board of Trustees extends this expression of deep sympathy in their great loss.

GEORGE BLUMENTHAL,
President

ARTHUR H. HARLOW,
Secretary

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF ISADORE GOLDSTEIN, M.D.

With deep sorrow the Board of Trustees of The Mount Sinai Hospital has learned of the untimely death of Dr. Isadore Goldstein, who has been connected with the Hospital for over thirty years. His outstanding services as Ophthalmologist and his personal interest in the welfare of his patients and the Hospital make his passing away a loss that will be keenly felt. To his bereaved family the Board extends the assurance of its sincerest sympathy.

GEORGE BLUMENTHAL,
President

ARTHUR H. HARLOW,
Secretary

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF DR. LOUIS GROSS

The Board of Trustees of The Mount Sinai Hospital was deeply grieved to learn of the untimely death of Dr. Louis Gross, who for ten years had ably served the Hospital as Director of Laboratories.

Dr. Gross had by his scientific achievements, earned the respect and admiration of the medical world, and was highly regarded as a scientist and administrator. His death is a serious loss to the world of research, and he will be sadly missed by all. To the members of his family, the Board extends its deep sympathy.

GEORGE BLUMENTHAL,
President.

ARTHUR H. HARLOW,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

The President of the Medical Board takes pleasure in presenting the following report of the activities of the Medical Staff of the Hospital:

THE LABORATORIES: During the year 1937 there was a substantial increase in the number of routine examinations performed in the Laboratories. A number of new tests were added to the present routine in the Departments of Bacteriology and Chemistry. The scientific publications for the year 1937 have maintained the same high standard which has characterized them in the past. The Laboratory Staff also contributed to the post-graduate teaching program by courses in clinical and practical bacteriology, neuropathology and neuroanatomy.

The following articles were published from the Laboratories:

1. The Production of the Shwartzman Phenomenon by Means of Bacterial Extracts.
2. The Use of Tumor Extract in the Production of the Shwartzman Phenomenon.
3. Prophylactic Vaccination against Intracranial Complications following Pneumococcus Type III Mastoiditis.
4. Experimental Production of Hemorrhage and Thrombosis in Lymph Nodes: An Extension of the Shwartzman Phenomenon.
5. Experimental Production of Vascular Lesions and Hemorrhage in Lymph Nodes.
6. Inhibition of the Shwartzman Phenomenon in Lymph Nodes.
7. The Use of Dialysis in the Preparation and Purification of Immunologically Active Bacterial Products.
8. Chapter entitled "The Use of Moccasin Venom in Hemorrhagic Conditions", written for The Practitioners Library of Medicine and Surgery, Vol. XIII.
9. Observations on an Intradermal Venom Reaction—A New Method of Determining Capillary Fragility.
10. Phenomenon of Local Tissue Reactivity and Its Immunological, Pathological and Clinical Significance (Book).
11. Phenomenon of local Skin Reactivity to Bacterial Filtrates; Its Relation to Anaphylatoxins, Forssman Antibodies and Serum Toxicity.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

12. Streptococcus Hemolyticus Bacteremia. A Study of 168 Cases.
13. Chemical Investigations on the Active Principles of the Phenomenon of Local Reactivity to Bacterial Filtrates. I. Purification by Dialysis and Attempts at Fractional Precipitation.
14. Experimental Attempts to Increase the Blood Supply to the Dog's Heart by Means of Coronary Sinus Occlusion.
15. The Aortic Commissural Legion in Rheumatic Fever.
16. Significance of Blood Vessels in Human Heart Valves.
17. So-called Congenital Bicuspid Aortic Valve.
18. Electrocardiographic Changes in the Dog Following Sudden Occlusion of the Left Anterior Descending Coronary Branch under Various Experimental Conditions.
19. Role of Rheumatic Fever in the Implantation of Bacterial Endocarditis.
20. Hemodynamic Studies in Experimental Coronary Occlusion. I. Open Chest Experiments.
21. Hemodynamic Studies in Experimental Coronary Occlusion. II. Closed Chest Experiments.
22. Hemodynamic Studies in Experimental Coronary Occlusion. III. Denervated Heart Experiments.
23. Paradoxical Effect of Intravenously Injected Sodium Cyanide in Small Doses on Cardiac Rate and Blood Pressure in Dogs.
24. Hemodynamic Studies in Experimental Coronary Occlusion. IV. Stellate Ganglionectomy Experiments.
25. Physiological Chemistry and Bile.
26. Hypophysectomy in the Rat.
27. A Suggested Test for Cortical Adrenal Carcinoma.
28. The Comb of the Baby Chick as a Test for the Male Sex Hormone.
29. Amenorrhea: Its Causation and Treatment.
30. Biologic Assay of Estrogenic Factors in Pregnancy Urine.
31. Determination of Phenol Red in Gastric Contents.
32. Phenolphthalein as a Dilution Indicator in Gastric Analysis.
33. Determination of Icteric Index by Acetone Method.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

34. Unusual Creatine-Creatinine Excretion in a Case of Pseudohypertrophic Muscular Dystrophy.
35. Induction of Pseudopregnancy in Rat by Silver Nitrate on Nasal Mucosa.
36. Effect of Emmenin on Gonadotropic Hormone Excretion in Castrates and Spontaneous Menopause.
37. Effect of Testosterone Propionate upon Gonadotropic Hormone and Vaginal Smears of Human Female Castrate.
38. Multilayers of Sterols and the Absorption of Digitonin by Deposited Monolayers.
39. Studies on Triazines. I. Reaction of Isocyanuric Ester with Grignard Compounds.
40. The Relation of the Blood Group Specific Substance A to the Type Specific Carbohydrate of Pneumococcus Type I.
41. Inhibitors of Choline Esterase.
42. Massive Puberty Hypertrophy of the Breasts.
43. Primary Sarcoma of the Liver.
44. The Experimental Nephropathies.
45. Hyperplasia and Neoplasia of the Interstitial Cells of the Testicle.
46. Chronic Intrahepatic Obliterating Cholangitis.
47. The Role of Vitamin C in Resistance.
48. Practical Neuroanatomy (Textbook).
49. Meningiomas. Origin, Divergence in Structure and Relationship to Contiguous Tissues in the Light of the Phylogenesis and Ontogenesis of the Meninges; with a suggestion of a Simplified Classification of Meningeal Neoplasms.
50. Contribution made by Roentgenographic Evidence after the Injection of Iodized Oil.
51. Chronic Epidemic Encephalitis with Massive Scar Formation in the Midbrain Simulating Brain Tumor.
52. Clinico-Neuropathological Conference Reports.
53. Thyrotoxicosis with Psychosis; Clinico-Neuropathologic Observations in a Case.
54. Necrotizing Encephalitis, Simulating Brain Tumor Clinically and due to Necrotizing Angiitis.

55. Melanoblastosis and Melanoblastoma.
56. Pial Epidermoid of the Chiasmal Region.
57. Critique of Present Treatment of Deafness due to Lesions of Conduction Mechanism.
58. Supravital Observations on some Uncommon Intracellular Structures of the Cellular Elements in Human Peripheral Blood.
59. Monocytoid Myeloblastic Leukemia.
60. Acquired Hemophilia in a Female.
61. Nystagmic Head Deviation, a Selective Action of an Aliphatic Bromine Compound.
62. Intestinal Length and Body Weight in the Adult Albino Mouse.
63. Intrapontile Tumors—A Clinico-Pathological Study.
64. Skin Reactions. II. The Effect of Allergic and Histamine Wheals on the Rate of Absorption of Dyes and Blood from the Human Dermis.
65. Skin Reactions. III. The Elementary Theory of Electrophoresis of Drugs through the Skin.
66. Inhibition of the Shwartzman Phenomenon in Lymph Nodes.
67. Influence of Antigen+Antibody Reaction on Production of the Shwartzman Phenomenon in Lymph Nodes and on its Inhibition.
68. Cataphoretic Separation of Toxic Components of Moccasin Venom.
69. Experimental Transplantation of the Ovaries (Auto-transplants of Dog Ovary into Omentum).
70. The Phenomenon of Tissue Reactivity in the Kidney of Rabbits.
71. Chemical Investigations on the Active Principles of the Phenomenon of Local Skin Reactivity to Bacterial Filtrates. II. Physico-Chemical Properties.
72. Chemical Investigations on the Active Principles of the Phenomenon of Local Skin Reactivity to Bacterial Filtrates. III. Application of Dialysis to the Production of the Active Principles in Fluid Media.

73. Ulcer Recurrences attributed to Upper Respiratory Tract Infection: A Possible Illustration of the Shwartzman Phenomenon.
74. Theca Cell Tumors of the Ovary.
75. The Origin of Carcinoma in Chronic Gastric Ulcer.
76. Cardiovascular Lesions in Avitaminoses.
77. Chapter on the Spleen for Handbook.
78. Effect of Subcutaneous Injections of Concentrated Spleen Extract on Mouse Sarcoma 180.
79. Glioneuroma and Spongioneuroblastoma.
80. Massive Cerebral Hemorrhage.
81. Tuberculous Meningitis and its Relation to Tuberculous Foci in the Brain.
82. Pubertas Præcox: A Survey of the Reported Cases and Verified Anatomical Findings, with particular Reference to Tumors of the Pineal Body.
83. Toxic Encephalopathy: Coal Tar Derivatives as a probable Etiological Factor.
84. Aspirin and Pyramidon Poisoning—A Neurohistological Study.
85. Meningo-Encephalo-Myeloradiculitis (Clinico-pathological Study).
86. Thrombocytopenic Purpura: Failure of X-ray Therapy.
87. A Characteristic Vacuolar Phenomenon in Monocytes.
88. Chapters on "Agranulocytosis," "Aplastic Anemia," "Blood-Platelets" and "Diseases of Blood-Platelets" for a book on "Blood Morphology."
89. Triazines II.
90. Factors which Reduce Gastric Acidity. A Survey of the Problem.
91. A Chemist Looks at Surfaces.
92. Mono- and Polymolecular Films of Physiologically Active Substances.
93. Sucroseria.
94. Chemistry of Steroids (Book).

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

MEDICAL SERVICES: On these Services there has been a continued advance in 1937 in organization, teaching activities, clinical and scientific work. There has been a close correlation of the work of the special medical services with the general medical staff by means of frequent consultations, joint conferences and special group conferences which were open to all members of the Hospital staff. Joint conferences were held at the monthly medical meetings at which reports of progress were made by various special groups. Among these there were discussions of:

1. Organization and cooperation with the Mental Hygiene Department.
2. Medical and surgical management of patients with renal calculus and infection.
3. Helium Therapy in status asthmaticus.
4. The value of bone marrow aspiration in the diagnosis and prognosis of various diseases of the blood and blood forming organs.
5. The value and organization of the follow-up clinic.
6. Prognostic factors in coronary artery thrombosis.
7. Sodium d-lactate blood clearance as a test of liver function.
8. Studies in gastric secretion.
9. Problems in the organization of a combined medical-mental health clinic.
10. Progress in the study of pulmonary disease.

The Out-Patient Department has attained a high degree of excellence. The majority of its physicians are graduates of the house staff. Others have had one or more years of training in the Department of Morbid Anatomy following their internship elsewhere. Most of the physicians are engaged in scientific research either on the wards or in the laboratories or both.

A number of scientific contributions was made in the past year on a great variety of subjects. Recently, an unusually promising method of rapid treatment of syphilis was resumed because of the excellent results found on the follow-up cases originally treated five years ago. This study is being conducted at the hospital under a distinguished group of physicians representing Columbia and Cornell Universities, the U. S. Public Health Service, the American Social Hygiene Association, the City Board of Health and the Mayor.

The following papers were published from these Services during the past year :

1. Mechanism of Histamine Iontophoresis from Aqueous Media.
2. Tannic Acid Therapy in Allergy of the Nasal Mucosa.
3. Recent Developments in Electrokinetic Methods and their Application to Biology and Medicine.
4. What Does a Heart Murmur Say?
5. Medical Care of Chronic Illness.
6. Heart Disease in Childhood.
7. The Aged Sick.
8. Operation and the Cardiac Patient.
9. Extracardiac Determinants of the Site and Radiation of Pain in Angina Pectoris with Special Reference to Shoulder Pain.
10. The Chronically Sick. The Social and Medical Aspects of their Nursing Care.
11. Rest and Exercise in the Treatment of Patients with Heart Disease.
12. Vitamin C Saturation Levels in Normal Subjects and in Various Pathological Conditions.
13. Heart Failure (Book).
14. The Endocrine Basis of the Toxemias of Pregnancy.
15. Prerenal Azotemia.
16. Unilateral Hemoglobinuria.
17. Occurrence and Pathogenesis of Cardiac Hypertrophy in Graves' Disease.
18. B. Friedländer Infections.
19. B. Friedländer Abdominal Infections due to Perforative Lesions of the Intestinal Tract.
20. Tobacco Sensitization in Rats.
21. Lymphangiectatic Envelope of Small Intestine causing Chronic Membranous Obstruction.
22. Pleochromocytoma with Demonstration of Pressor Substance (Adrenalin) Curing Hypertensive Crises.
23. Influence of Ergotamine Tartrate on Peripheral Blood Flow.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

24. Clinical Disorders with Associated Hepatic and Renal Manifestations with Especial Reference to the So-called "Hepato-Renal Syndrome".
25. Coronary Artery Occlusion; Role of Effort, Trauma and Other Factors in its Precipitation.
26. Coronary Thrombosis; Investigation of Heart Failure and Other Factors in its Course and Prognosis.
27. Precordial Lead of Electrocardiogram of Normal Children.
28. Clinical and Electrocardiographic Differentiation of Coronary Thrombosis from Pulmonary Embolism.
29. Sudden Profound Acrocyanosis as Presenting Sign in Myocardial Infarction.
30. Factors and Events Associated with Onset of Coronary Artery Occlusion.
31. Coronary Artery Occlusion; Mode of Death and Analysis of Fatal Cases.
32. Disturbances of Rate and Rhythm in Acute Coronary Artery Thrombosis.
33. Incidence and Prognosis of Cardiac Arrhythmias in Coronary Artery Thrombosis.
34. Significance of Absent or Small Initial Positive Deflection in Precordial Lead.
35. Electrocardiographic Changes in Acute Nephritis.
36. Atypical Bundle-Branch Block with Short P-R Interval in Graves' Disease; Effect of Thyroidectomy.
37. Electrocardiogram Characteristic of Coronary Thrombosis in Patient with Aortic Stenosis.
38. Occurrence of Rheumatic Fever in Patient with Rheumatoid Arthritis.
39. Heart in Acute Nephritis.
40. Localization of Ventricular Extrasystoles in Human Heart with Right Axis Deviation.
41. Experimental Nephropathies.
42. Attempts at the Solution of Renal Calculi by Dietary Means.
43. Nutritional Reviews. I. Protein Requirements. II. Caloric Requirements.

44. Dietary Suggestions for the Management of Diabetic Patients Using Protamine Zinc Insulin.
45. Dangers of Dehydration Treatment in Heart Disease.
46. Hematological Observations on Sternal Marrow obtained by Puncture.
47. Supravital Studies of Gaucher Cells.
48. Observations in Female Hemophilia.
49. Treatment of Thrombocytopenic Purpura by Massive Irradiation of the Spleen.
50. Monocytoid Myeloblastic Leukemia.
51. Simple, Practical and Sterile Technique for Obtaining Bone Marrow from Animals by Puncture.
52. Intradermal Venom Reaction-Test for Capillary Fragility.
53. Purpura—Classification and Treatment.
54. Masked Sinusitis as a Cause of Obscure Fever.
55. Sodium d-Lactate Blood Clearance as a Test of Liver Function.
56. Electrolytes of Blood and Urine of Dogs with Acute Hepatic Injury Produced by Arsphenamine.
57. Metabolism of Sodium d-Lactate. I. Utilization of Intravenously Injected Sodium d-Lactate by Normal Persons.
58. Metabolism of Sodium d-Lactate. II. Utilization of Intravenously Injected Sodium d-Lactate by Patients with Acute Diffuse Parenchymal Injury of the Liver.
59. Choline-esterase activity of Human Sera with Special Reference to Hyperthyroidism.
60. Experiments in Passive Transfer.
61. Etiology and Therapy of Ulcerative Colitis.
62. Subphrenic Vagotomy Plus Gastro-enterostomy for Duodenal Ulcer.
63. Acid Factor in Peptic Ulcer with Special Reference to Milk Drip Therapy and Partial Gastrectomy.
64. A Micro-Method to Determine Histamine in the Presence of Blood.
65. Reversed Histamine Iontophoresis.
66. The Electrical Charge of Ragweed Pollen Protein.

67. Calculation of Radii and Molecular Weights of Proteins from Electrical Mobility.
68. Electrical Charge on the Surfaces of Amino Acid Crystals.
69. Transfusion Syphilis.
70. Healing in Subacute Bacterial Endocarditis.
71. Nature of Glomerulonephritis.
72. Clinical Studies of Gitalin and of Digitalis in the Treatment of Auricular Fibrillation.
73. Comparison of Blood Levels of Vitamin C in Subjects Saturated with Vitamin C and those Unsaturated with Vitamin C as indicated by the Urinary Excretion Test.
74. Redistribution of Blood in Heart Failure Revealed by Antecubital-Jugular Venous Pressure Differences.
75. The Shwartzman Phenomenon in the Kidneys of Rabbits.
76. A Morphologic Study of the Reactivity of Mouse Sarcoma 180 to Bacterial Filtrates.
77. Tobacco Hypersensitiveness and Biopsy Studies in Vascular Disease.
78. The Relationship of Orthopedic Surgery to Internal Medicine.
79. The Creatine Tolerance Test in the Differential Diagnosis of Graves' Disease and Allied Conditions.
80. The Comparative Value of the Basal Metabolic Rate, Velocity of Blood Flow and Creatine Tolerance Test in the Differential Diagnosis of Graves' Disease and Allied Conditions.
81. Postoperative Coronary Artery Occlusion.
82. Partial and Complete Heart Block in Coronary Artery Occlusion.
83. Bundle-Branch and Intraventricular Block in Coronary Artery Occlusion.
84. Dilatation of the Pulmonary Artery.
85. Association of Sciatic Neuritis with Hepatic Disease.
86. Influence of Experimental Biliary Obstruction and Hepatic Injury on Total Bile Acid Content and Partition.
87. One Year's Experience with Protamine Insulin.

88. Prozinsulin (Protamine Zinc Insulin) Therapy; Advantages, Dietary Suggestions and Notes on the Management of Cases.
89. Hypoglycemic Response of Patients Using Prozinsulin to Induce Hyperglycemia.
90. Supravital Studies of Monocytes.
91. Value of Sternal Puncture in Multiple Myeloma.
92. Life History of Polycythemia.
93. Effect of Liver Extract in Subacute Combined Sclerosis with Special Reference to Paralytic Form.
94. The Use of Intravenously Injected Sodium d-Lactate as a Liver Function Test.
95. Hepatic Complications in Polycythemia Vera with Particular Reference to Thrombosis of the Hepatic and Portal Veins and Hepatic Cirrhosis.
96. Abdominal Manifestations of the Hyperactive Carotid Sinus Reflex.
97. Serum Choline Esterase in Jaundice and Liver Disease.
98. Oxygen Saturation of the Arterial Blood in the Cyanosis from Sulfanilamide.
99. Bio-Assay of a Parathyroid Adenoma in a Case of Generalized Osteitis Fibrosa.
100. Hyperparathyroidism.
101. Trauma and Septicemia.
102. Surgical Jaundice.
103. Excretion of Foreign Substances by the Liver and the Question of Visualization of the Gall Bladder in the Presence of Jaundice.
104. Reminiscences of the History of Blood Transfusion.
105. Anorexia Nervosa.
106. Bursitis of Sartorius Tendon.
107. The Simultaneous Association of Hiatus Hernia and Coronary Disease.
108. Cushing's Syndrome.
109. The Variability in the Pathological Findings in Cushing's Syndrome.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

110. Cholesterol Metabolism and Liver Disorders.
111. Localization of Ventricular Extrasystoles.
112. Accidental Production of Graves' Disease by Deep X-ray Therapy to the Abdomen (Suprarenal Glands).
113. The Role of the Arteries in Peripheral Resistance of Hypertension.

PEDIATRIC SERVICE: During the past year studies in many fields were carried out on this Service. Papers were published on the following subjects:

1. Hemoptysis as the presenting symptom of congenital cyst of the lung.
2. Acute Lupus Erythematosus Disseminatus.
3. Congenital anemia of the new born.
4. Abdominal puncture in the diagnosis of peritonitis in childhood.
5. Renal hyperparathyroidism.

Investigation of the insensible perspiration in children is being continued and the problems under investigation include the effect of insulin and of various drugs (adrenalin, pilocarpine, atropin), the discrepancy between heat production and heat loss through insensible perspiration as an explanation of fever of unknown origin. The role of the sympathetic and parasympathetic nervous system in insensible perspiration is being investigated.

Studies of Vitamin C have been continued and have led to a publication on its relation to the Schick test and diphtheria. Vitamin A studies in older children by means of light perception are in progress. The treatment of rickets and tetany by single massive doses of Vitamin D is under investigation.

The diabetic manual for children was revised and reprinted as a second edition. A number of papers on behavior disorders in children were published from the Children's Health Class. The action of sulfanilamide in children is being observed as a clinical study. A new patch-test for tuberculosis has been described and is now in general use. Work is in progress on the recovery of tubercle bacilli in gastric washings in very early tuberculosis.

DERMATOLOGICAL SERVICE: On this Service work is being continued in a number of subjects, primarily (1) the study of capillary fragility; (2) the use of venom in hemorrhagic conditions; (3) chemical studies of the venom; in this connection certain venom components have been separated for the first time. Investigations are also being conducted on the role of sweat as a natural protective to keep the skin free of bacteria.

The following papers were published on this Service:

1. Chemical Studies on Moccasin Venom. I. Some Properties of the Hemorrhagic and Hemolytic Components.
2. Additional Data on the Treatment of Uterine Bleeding with Snake Venom.
3. Purpura, Classification and Treatment, with special reference to Treatment with Snake Venom.

In addition, the following problems are now being investigated:

1. Massive dose therapy of syphilis by the Intravenous Drip Method.
2. Photo-sensitizing effect of porphyrins in psoriasis.
3. Treatment of lichen planus by spinal radiation.
4. Lipoid studies in various dermatoses.

NEUROLOGICAL SERVICE: The following publications were made from this Service during the past year:

1. Mental Symptoms in Cases of Subtentorial Tumor.
2. Unusual Case of Myoclonus Epilepsy.
3. Dyskinesias.
4. Mental Symptoms in 530 Cases of Verified Brain Tumors.
5. Forensic Neuropsychiatry.
6. Treatment of Cerebral Vascular Lesions.
7. Studies of the Migrainous Syndrome—psychological and physiological.
8. Atypical Raynaud's Disease.
9. Notes on a Case with Paranoid Ideas.
10. Defects in Visual Fields of One Eye only in Patients with a Lesion of One Optic Radiation.
11. Fright and Drug Contractions in Denervated Facial and Ocular Muscles.
12. Tumor of the Brain with Normal Encephalogram.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

13. Abnormal Ocular and Pupillary Movements following Oculomotor Paralysis.
14. Malignant Tumors of the Nasopharynx.
15. Myelopathy of Pregnancy.
16. The Sequelæ of Head Injury.
17. Dynamics and Therapy of Depressive States.
18. Fairy Tales, Lilliputian Dreams and Neurosis.
19. The Dictaphone as an Aid to Psychiatric Case Presentations.

SURGICAL SERVICES: On one of the Surgical Services work has been started on a series of experimental investigations dealing with the normal and abnormal physiology of the biliary system and its relationship to interference with the blood supply of the liver through both the hepatic artery and portal vein. Investigative work is being conducted in cases of common duct obstruction that have been operated upon in order to determine abnormal physiological activity of the excretory system of the liver through the medium of lipiodal injections and subsequent X-ray examination of the biliary tree; information of considerable value is being accumulated along these lines. Investigations are also being conducted to determine the cause and the bacteriology of peritonitis following colonic operations and an attempt is being made to evolve an effective method of peritoneal vaccination in these cases.

The following publications were made from this Service:

1. Ruptured Metastatic Lung Abscess following Septic Abortion with Unusual Bacteriological Findings.
2. The Technique of Parathyroidectomy in the Treatment of Raynaud's Disease and Scleroderma.
3. Surgical Treatment of Carcinoma of the Esophagus.
4. Differential Diagnosis of Hyperparathyroidism.
5. An Unusual Type of Congenital Hernia.
6. Recurrent Epithelioma of Arm; method of covering defect after radical excision.
7. Perforation of the Intestine due to Enterostomy Tube.
8. Bleeding Benign Tumors of the Small Intestine.

9. Attempted Solution of Renal Calculi by Dietetic Measures.
10. Status of Cholecysto-gastrostomy in Obstructive Jaundice.
11. Prolonged Survival following Cholecysto-gastrostomy for Obstructive Jaundice due to Carcinoma of the Head of the Pancreas.
12. Hemorrhagic Infarction of Peritoneum simulating Acute Appendicitis.
13. Nephrectomy versus Conservative Operation in Unilateral Calculus Disease of the Upper Urinary Tract.
14. The Management of Intestinal Obstruction.

On a second Surgical Service, further experimental and pathological work is being continued on the relationship of mesenteric adenitis to acute appendicitis. Investigations are being continued on the use of endo-choledochol biliary drainage by the use of modified T tubes.

The following papers were published from this Service during the past year :

1. Fractured Ribs with Paradoxical Motion.
2. Traumatic Subcutaneous Emphysema of Thoracic Origin.
3. Resistance of the Sphincter Oddi in the Human.
4. Differential Analysis of Bile Acids in Human Bile from Fistulæ.
5. Hepatic Excretion in the Dog following Oral Administration of Various Bile Acids.
6. Absorption of Fat from the Ileum in Human Beings.
7. Bile Salt-Cholesterol Ratio in Human Bile.
8. Endocholedochal Sphincterotomy.
9. Physiologic Principles in Roentgenographic Visualization of the Biliary Tract after injection of Lipiodol.
10. Hepatic Excretion in Man of the Various Bile Acids following their Oral Administrations.
11. Bile Salt Therapy in Gall Bladder Disease.
12. The Clinical Significance of Pancreatic Reflux.
13. Routine Treatment before and after Operation on the Common Bile Duct.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL STAFF

On another Surgical Service, studies were made on the following:

1. Better criteria and improved technique in the operation of pneumonectomy for carcinoma of the lung.
2. Further progress in the surgery of acute putrid abscess of the lung.
3. Classification and consideration of the surgical aspects of suppurative broncho-pneumonia.
4. Further development in the surgical treatment of mediastinal infections.
5. Fat grafts for filling of pulmonary cavities.
6. The radical excision of venous trunks for suppurative thrombo-phlebitis.
7. Excision of the axillary vein in the radical operation for carcinoma of the breasts.
8. Partial removal of liver for cancer.
9. Study of non-suppurative thrombo-phlebitis.
10. Study of benign peritoneal tumors.
11. Study of unusual tumors of the testicles.

On a fourth Surgical Service, clinical investigations were carried out on the uretero-sigmoid implantations, diseases of the adrenal gland and of the renal calculus; studies were also made of kidney tumors, especially in cases with involvement of the renal vein and vena cava.

In the Out-Patient Department of the Genito-Urinary Division the following clinical research was conducted:

1. The treatment of gonococcic infections in the male with sulfanilamide.
2. The treatment of urinary infections with mandelic acid and sulfanilamide.
3. Cystometric and sphincterometric studies of vesical function.

NEURO-SURGICAL SERVICE: During the past year this Service has paid particular attention to the study of its cases of subdural hematoma, subdural hygroma and epidural spinal infections.

GYNECOLOGICAL SERVICE: Among the many interesting investigations being conducted on this Service are the classification, histogenesis and biological activities of theca and granuloma cell tumors; histologic studies on the finer cytology of the uterine endometrium; the value of androgens in their relations to various functional diseases; numerous studies involving the utilization of oestrogen by the human. The treatment and study of senile atrophic conditions of the vagina and vulva are now being studied to correlate the symptoms with the objective criteria. Research work was carried out on the question of incontinence in the female, its mechanism and therapy, with the proposal of a new operation which offers the possibility of permanent cure of this condition; also study of pelvic pain and Head zones reproduced by artificial distention of ligated fallopian tubes. Work was done on a new type of operation for the bloodless removal of large fibroids.

Papers were published on:

1. A new type of operation for complete hysterectomy.
2. Pituitary radiation in the treatment of menopause.
3. Psychotherapy in Gynecological practice.

OTOLOGICAL SERVICE: On this Service, in addition to the routine work, studies were made in the diagnosis and clinical course of malignancies of the external auditory canal and mastoid. Investigations of various clinical aspects of sinus thrombosis and its complications have been continued. Intensive study of pathological material has resulted in a number of publications upon these examinations. The Service still continues to interest itself, by means of the vestibular tests, in various neuro-otological problems.

OPHTHALMOLOGICAL SERVICE: This Service has increased its post-graduate work and now offers courses in practically all branches of ophthalmology.

The following papers were published during the past year:

1. Bilateral Atrophy of the Optic Nerve in Periarteritis Nodosa: A Microscopic Study.
2. Case Report on the Hemiopic Pupil.
3. Laurence Biedle Moon Syndrome.
4. Metastatic Panophthalmitis from Pyogenic Cutaneous Infections.
5. Suprasellar Meningioma—Case Report.

Studies are at present being carried out on the following:

1. Blind Spot in Clinical Ophthalmology.
2. Microscopic Study of Coloboma of the Optic Nerve.
3. The Blood Vessel Structure of the Eye (Histological Study).
4. Vernal Catarrh.
5. Vitamin Therapy in Ophthalmic practice.

ORTHOPEDIC SERVICE: The past year has been one of increased activity on this Service. Members of the staff have been actively engaged in clinical and experimental investigation of several important problems.

The following articles and books were published during the past year:

1. Radio-ulnar Laxity following Colles Fracture.
2. Source Book of Orthopedics.
3. One hundred Cases of Poliomyelitis, conservatively treated.
4. Corkscrew Bolt for Femoral Neck Fractures.
5. Tumors of the Pelvic Girdle.
6. Fibroblastic Tumors of the Extremities.
7. Perineal Nerve Palsy following Adhesive Traction.
8. Paraplegia after Manipulation.
9. The Relation of Dental Infection to Arthritis.
10. End Result Studies in Fibroblastic Tumors of the Extremities.
11. The Effect of Large Doses of Lipiodol Injected in the Spinal Subarachnoid Space.
12. Tarsal Wedge Arthrodesis.

PHYSICAL THERAPY DEPARTMENT: The Department has been unusually active during the past year. Because the demand for service was greater than the facilities then available, it tried to eliminate as far as possible those patients whose major complaints were psychologic and chronic, and to treat particularly those organic conditions where rapid favorable results could reasonably be expected. Obsolete equipment was replaced by new apparatus, including short wave machines and a paraffin bath. A thermostatically controlled heating hood which is being used extensively in the treatment of peripheral disease was also introduced into the Hospital.

DEPARTMENT OF RADIOLOGY: In 1937, 16,530 patients were examined compared with 14,387 in 1936, and 21,446 patients visits were made compared with 17,848 in 1936. This marked increase gives only a partial idea of the increased work that this Department was called upon to perform since the individual examinations were more complicated and time consuming. During the year further progress was made in making the equipment of the Department electrically shock-proof. The Roentgen equipment in the cystoscopy department was so protected. A kymograph was installed and studies of cardiac pulsation, particularly with regard to myocardial infarct, are proceeding. The Department of Electrocardiography has been cooperating closely in this study. The Department contributed material in the graduate instruction in radiology now offered by Columbia University.

DEPARTMENT OF RADIOTHERAPY: The number of patients examined and treated during 1937 was slightly less than the corresponding number during 1936. There were 1,127 patients in 1937 as compared with 1,196 in 1936. There were 638 new cases as compared to 654 in the preceding year. Many patients were referred to other hospitals because of lack of facilities for hospitalization. All these cases were such as could be aided by treatment and were not of the class requiring only custodial care.

The methods and techniques employed in 1936 were continued in 1937, with only one significant modification. Treatment of malignant tumors located in the natural cavities of the body was augmented by a method termed "intracavitary irradiation". In the annual report of 1936 mention was made of the increasing variety of benign conditions being treated in the Department. In addition to bronchiectasis, rheumatoid arthritis, etc., cases of paranasal sinusitis and of thrombo-angiitis obliterans are now being treated.

Reports on the treatment of bronchiectasis and on the treatment of carcinoma of the breast were presented at the International Congress of Radiology; these will be published in the near future. Studies on the treatment of carcinoma of the cervix were published. The post-graduate courses in radiotherapy of benign and malignant conditions were continued under the auspices of Columbia University.

ISIDORE FRIESNER, M.D.,

President, Medical Board.

A Brief and succ financial p

The cost of operating the Hospital was $2,193,432

These operating costs were exclusive of costs of research, post-graduate medical education and other activities not directly connected with maintenance of the Hospital.

More than $1,200,000 was used for salaries and wages.

To meet part of these costs patients paid to the Hospital only . . $1,001,737

The difference is the total philanthropic expense for the year, or $1,191,695

Grants from Federation, the United Hospital Fund and the City, supplied the Hospital with a total of $ 939,763

Income from endowment funds, donations, etc., amounted to . $ 69,237

Leaving the Hospital with a final net shortage or deficit of . . $ 182,695

statement of the for 1937

This deficit added to other deficits since the depression years beginning with 1930, has now reached a total of $1,249,963

The large deficits of the past eight years could have been avoided only by curtailing in quantity or quality, or both, the services rendered by the Hospital to the sick poor of the City. Because these services are urgently needed, it has been the policy of the Board of Trustees to maintain them as long as possible, and the deficits have been met out of the limited capital funds of the Hospital.

Such capital funds were expected to provide income for maintenance purposes and the depletion of these funds to keep the Hospital going has correspondingly reduced such income. There is obviously a limit to this constant drain on the Hospital's reserves.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT

During 1937, 12,145 patients, new to the hospital, were accepted for medical care to the Out-Patient Department. The magnitude of this community demand, added to the continuing needs of old patients, registered in previous years, is best indicated in the number of patient visits recorded for the year which reached a total in excess of 327,000, a greater load than that experienced in the previous year. Despite this quantitative increase in services rendered, the Committee on Out-Patient Department is pleased to report that the added demand was paralleled to an equal degree by the same excellent medical service which characterized it in past years. To maintain this quality of clinic service, patients were accepted only to the number which could be given adequate medical care within the existing physical limits. It was necessary, unfortunately, to restrict admissions occasionally to those clinics which were functioning at their maximum.

In all, throughout the year, there were 304 days during which medical examinations and treatments were provided in morning and afternoon sessions in 31 major clinics and a number of subdivisions. The Committee on Out-Patient Department realizes that this has only been made possible because of the invaluable services rendered by a staff, mainly volunteer, who willingly contributed their time and scientific knowledge to this service. The more than 400 physicians attached to the clinics averaged 163 in daily attendance, assisted by a group of devoted social service volunteers. To both groups the Committee expresses its appreciation.

The clinics, with their wide variety of clinical subject matter of medical interest, again served as a teaching field for the general medical profession. A number of comprehensive post-graduate courses, under the auspices of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, attracted graduate physicians from widely scattered areas throughout the United States and from foreign countries. Educational opportunities were again given to clinical assistants attached to the general medical clinics to rotate through specialty clinics for periods of several months.

Many clinics, in addition to providing routine care for patients, pursued problems of investigative clinical research, a review of which is incorporated into the report of the medical staff. Conferences with discussions of specific clinic problems and the presentation of interesting cases were held by several clinics regularly throughout the year. The monthly hospital departmental conferences devoted portions of their programs to the consideration of Out-Patient Department problems.

The physicians attached to the clinic for metabolic diseases, in co-operation with the laboratory and dietetic departments, were able to replace the use of insulin with the newer protamin zinc insulin in the majority of diabetic patients. This is advantageous to the patient in that the new form requires only a single daily injection whereas the older variety often necessitated its use several times daily.

The cardiac clinic for adults has studied the problem of management of patients with repeated heart failure or with protracted forms of rheumatism, endeavoring to institute competent domiciliary care with intimate follow-up to avoid need for repeated hospitalization.

The gastro-intestinal clinic, occupying new quarters on the fourth floor of the Out-Patient Department annex, introduced the use of the flexible gastroscope for the differential diagnosis in addition to carrying on its studies of many clinical problems.

In February a separate group was established for the purpose of segregating patients with breast ailments and to facilitate earlier diagnoses and institution of indicated therapeutic measures.

The space limitations of this report permit mention of only a few clinics—the Committee on Out-Patient Department, however, is fully cognizant and duly appreciative of the fine service performed in all clinics.

Respectfully submitted,

LEONARD A. HOCKSTADER,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL SCHOOL OF NURSING

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL:
Gentlemen:

During the past year two groups of preliminary students were admitted to the School—the February section of thirty-six students, and the September section of fifty-nine. Of these ninety-five students approximately ten per cent. were eliminated during the preliminary period. Careful selection of students is one of the objectives of the School and this, no doubt, accounts for the fact that fewer students are dropped because of inability to meet the standards of the School.

On January 1, 1937, the School had a student enrollment as follows:

Preliminary students	50
First year students.....	32
Second year students.....	77
Third year students.....	79
<hr/>
Total	238

We also had approximately 200 graduate nurses engaged in the different departments of the Hospital.

The demand for skill and education as the only safe means for protecting health and combating disease is now generally recognized; therefore, it is necessary to give a great deal of attention at all times to our educational program in order to prepare our nurses for the various types of services they will be called upon to give.

During the past summer the National League of Nursing Education published a Curriculum Guide for Schools of Nursing, which has proved a great stimulus to our faculty in continuing to study the curriculum of this School. After reviewing our program and comparing it with the Guide, a number of changes were proposed and approved; an elementary course in Sociology was added, the course in Modern Social Problems was extended, the plan of experience in pediatric nursing was revised in order to make better use of the wealth of available clinical material, the hours of ward duty were reduced during the first year, and more emphasis has been placed on the social and preventive point of view.

REPORT OF SCHOOL OF NURSING

The experience given to students receiving an elective in the Social Service Department has been reorganized. Through the cooperative efforts of Mrs. Cook, Chairman of the Social Service Committee, and Mrs. Mendelsohn, Director of the Department, it will now be possible for thirty students to receive this elective annually.

The professional library of the School has been recatalogued according to an approved system for schools of nursing. Ninety new books were added during the year, which now gives a total of 1,150 up-to-date reference books in our library.

The announcement of the School has been revised and a student handbook has been published. This brochure is given to students when they enter the School and has proven valuable in aiding them to adjust to their new environment.

During the past year the extra-professional program has included some outstanding activities, such as sports, dramatics, small parties and dances. The Social and Sports Committees of the Student Association, with faculty cooperation, have been responsible for planning the social program. Miss Wood and her competent staff of dietitians have, as usual, contributed to the success of these various activities, and we express our warm appreciation to them.

There have been four resignations from the teaching and supervisory staff. Miss Katherine Leach, Operating Room Supervisor, and Miss Beatrice Cane, Senior Science Instructor, resigned to be married. They were succeeded by Miss Ruth Goebel, Night Supervisor, and Miss Elizabeth Clanton, respectively. Miss Nell Ballenger was appointed Assistant Science Instructor, to replace Miss Clanton, and Mrs. Patience Earnest accepted the night supervisory position.

Miss Elizabeth Fitzpatrick, Senior Nursing Arts Instructor, and Miss Cecile Lattimer, Medical Ward Instructor, resigned last September to enroll as full-time students at Teachers College. Miss Clare Skaling, Medical Supervisor, was transferred to the Nursing Arts Department, as Senior Instructor, and Miss Harley Savage was appointed to the position of Ward Instructor. Miss Mithylde Reich was promoted to the position of Medical Supervisor, and Miss Suzanne Charles succeeded Miss Reich as Surgical Ward Instructor.

On February 8, 1938, the annual commencement exercises of the School were held, and the fifty-fifth class of students—seventy-six in number—were graduated. Mayor LaGuardia was the guest speaker on this occasion.

We are pleased to report that the health of the students and graduates has been unusually good, and that the daily average of nurses off duty because of illness has decreased during 1937. This is probably due to the preventive work being done in our Health Service, and to the splendid medical care which our nurses receive.

Once again I wish to extend the sincere thanks of the Board to all members of the Medical Staff who have contributed so generously by giving our nurses expert medical care in times of illness. The resignation of Dr. Eliasoph as school physician was accepted with regret. We are glad to say that Dr. Solomon Silver has accepted to serve in this important position.

A progressive staff education program has been carried out for the graduate nurses which has increased their knowledge and efficiency in their work. This program has been supplemented by many of our staff continuing to take advanced educational courses at Teachers College. Several scholarships and leaves of absence were granted during the year.

The total expenditures for the School and Nursing Department for the past year amounted to $299,428.72, exclusive of laundry, food and maintenance of building.

The year has offered boundless opportunity for service because our patient census has been higher than other years. However, during the spring and summer months we encountered the problem of securing a sufficient number of qualified graduates for staff nursing in order to maintain our standards of nursing service. We met this problem by employing graduate nurses from our Registry on a daily basis, and by employing on our permanent staff additional subsidiary workers for non-nursing duties. Frequent studies of bedside nursing hours given to patients in twenty-four hours were made to enable us to check on the adequacy of our nursing care to patients. Since October we have had more applications from qualified graduates for staff nursing.

The Alumnae Association, which now has a membership of 782, has had a very active and progressive year. The programs presented at the monthly meetings have been most interesting and stimulating. The splendid welfare work done by the Association has continued to bring comfort and happiness to its needy members.

The Registry for special nursing has had the busiest year on record. The total number of nurses enrolled on the Registry list was approximately 500. The registrar received 8,356 calls for special nursing; of this number 8,153 were filled by graduates of the School, 133 were filled by securing nurses from other registries, and for 70 requests it was impossible for us to send nurses.

The Board extends grateful thanks to the Director of the Hospital, Dr. Joseph Turner, for his interested cooperation and valuable advice on our many perplexing problems.

To the Principal of the School and Superintendent of Nurses, Miss Grace A. Warman, the faculty and graduate staff, we wish to express our thanks and deep appreciation for the splendid work done in our behalf. We consider the past year the most successful in our history.

Respectfully submitted,

HUGO BLUMENTHAL,

*President of The Mount Sinai Hospital
School of Nursing*

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL:
Gentlemen:

It is difficult to realize that twelve months have come and gone since I addressed you relative to the activities of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

On account of ill health I have been unable to attend the meetings during the past winter, but I know of the vast quantities of surgical dressings that have come from the hands of our enthusiastic workers. The devotion with which our Ladies have carried on, meets our wholehearted commendation and thanks.

May we hope that the year 1938 will find us all working together again, in an effort to surpass the splendid results just attained.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. LEOPOLD BERNHEIMER,

Extracts from the Constitution on Endowed Beds and Endowments

A Contribution of $2,500 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Life Bed. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the general wards of the main Hospital, free of charge.

A Contribution of $3,500 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Memorial Bed. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the main Hospital, free of charge. Such donor may bequeath that right to a successor appointed by the said donor in his or her last will and testament, or by any other instrument under seal. In the event of such successor being appointed, the rights hereinbefore mentioned shall continue for a period of not over fifty years from the date of such contribution—such period, however, not to end before ten years from the death of the donor.

A Contribution of $5,000 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Perpetual Bed in the Children's Pavilion. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the wards of the Children's Pavilion, free of charge. Such donor may bequeath that right to a successor appointed by said donor in his or her last will and testament or by any other instrument under seal.

A Contribution of $7,500 to the General Fund of the Hospital, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, shall endow a Perpetual Bed, but where, under the provision of any will executed prior to March 20, 1921, the sum of $5,000 or more is bequeathed to the Hospital in payment of any Perpetual Bed, the Board of Trustees may, at their option, accept such sum in payment of such Perpetual Bed. Such contribution shall entitle the donor thereof, during his or her lifetime, to name a patient from time to time to use and occupy one bed in the general wards of the main Hospital, free of charge. Such donor may bequeath that right to a successor appointed by said donor in his or her last will and testament, or by any other instrument under seal.

When a corporation is the donor, the privilege shall expire at the end of twenty-five years from the date of such contribution.

Tablets to commemorate the endowment of Life and Memorial Beds shall be placed in designated areas, subject to the rules of the Hospital. Tablets for Life Beds shall be maintained during the life of the donor, tablets for Memorial Beds for a period not beyond fifty years from the date of their endowment, such period, however, not to end before ten years from the death of the donor. The endowment of a Perpetual Bed shall entitle the donor, or his legal representative, to have a tablet placed in the ward selected by him, or by them, or to have the endowment recorded on a tablet provided for that purpose in the corridor of the Hospital; such tablets shall be maintained in perpetuity.

A donor may change a Life Bed endowed by him or her to a Memorial Bed by making an additional contribution of $1,000, or to a Perpetual Bed by making an additional contribution of $5,000, or may change a Memorial Bed to a Perpetual Bed by making an additional contribution of $4,000.

No patient shall occupy a Life, Memorial or Perpetual Bed unless he shall comply with the current rules of the Hospital and be a proper subject for treatment according to its regulations.

An endowment for the establishing of any special fund may be accepted by a resolution of the Board of Trustees. Such fund may be created either for a special purpose, in which event the income therefrom shall be devoted to such purpose only, or under the name of one or more persons, in which event the income therefrom shall be devoted to the general purposes of the Hospital. Such endowment funds shall be kept by the Treasurer as special accounts. Contributions to existing funds may be made at any time, but no funds shall be created with an initial endowment of less than Ten Thousand Dollars.
